Fix Blame On Forum Rulings

Regents Are Today Considering Application of Science Club

KRONSHAGE TO LEAD

Expected Milwaukee Member Will Try To Have System Changed

The university board of regents [illegible] scheduled to take up the petition of the Social Science club at a meeting of the board being held this afternoon. Routine matters occupied the attention of the board this morning.

Theodore Kronshage, newly appointed regent from Milwaukee, is expected to take up the fight in behalf of a new deal at the university whereby the university forum will not be denied to men of progressive leanings.

It is known that Mr. Kronshage [illegible] that one of the things that should be done first is to establish the rule of action in the consideration of applications for university platforms whereby responsibility can be fixed when the application is denied. It has been the custom among university officials to "pass the buck" when applications have been denied and it has been difficult to ascertain why applications were denied and who denied them. Mr. Kronshage feels that university authorities should [illegible] frankly and openly in the consideration of applications for university halls.

A plan may be submitted to the regents whereby a committee of the faculty or of the regents will [illegible] named which will consider all applicants for university halls and platforms.

Another proposal is that a committee of the regents will be named to investigate the entire question of the university forum and [illegible] to work out a new plan.

[illegible] applications for the use [illegible] versity buildings were up [illegible] morning. The Boy Scouts were given the use of the stock pavilion while a representative of a [illegible] academy was denied the use of the building.

It is expected that the regents will also be in session tomorrow.

Rude Pleads Not Guilty to Liquor Law Violations

[illegible] Rude, a member of the gang alleged to have been disturbing the [illegible] of Daleyville residents, was arraigned in superior court this morning, charged with violating liquor laws. He pleaded not guilty and was released under $500. A warrant for the arrest of [illegible] Fjelstad of Perry, has also [illegible] issued, but he has not yet been located by court officials. [illegible] of the alleged gang, Elmer [illegible], Joseph Haverud and [illegible] Holder, were arraigned in [illegible] yesterday.

WOMEN TOLD THAT AFTERNOON SESSION WILL BE SECRET

Mrs. Robert L. Siebecker and Mrs. E. A. Ledwith attended the meeting of the board of university regents Wednesday morning following action taken by the Madison Women's Progressive association. Mrs. Siebecker and Mrs. Ledwith were asked to attend the meeting to hear the discussion on the Social Science club application and to report to the next meeting of the association. They were at the meeting this morning for that purpose. At the conclusion of the meeting this morning the women expressed a desire to attend this afternoon's meeting. They were told by President Birge that this would be impossible as the afternoon meeting would be "an executive session."

Plumbers Are Facing Anti Trust Action

Atty. Gen. Morgan Charges State Combine to Fix Prices

Suit to bring about dissolution of an alleged combine of plumbers supply companies in Wisconsin, was commenced today in the Milwaukee county circuit court by Atty. Gen. William J. Morgan. An injunction is asked restraining the eight defendants named from "combining, agreeing, or conspiring to restrain trade or competition in the sale of plumbing, steam fitting or mill work supplies."

The defendants named in the action are the Hoffman and Billings Manufacturing Co., The Robert Rom Co., B. Hoffman Manufacturing Co., Rundell-Spence Co., Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Co., F. R. Dengel Co., Wisconsin Plumbing and Heating Co., James B. Clow and Sons Co.

Contention is made in the complaint of the state that plumbers supply houses regulate prices through the use of the Clow bulletin as a price fixing medium, and a permanent injunction restraining its circulation is asked.

"The principal purpose of this action is to test the validity of the Clow bulletin and its use by the plumbing trade," G. F. Clifford, special assistant attorney general prosecuting the case said. "There can be no dispute but that it does fix and maintain plumbing and steamfitting prices, through attempting to establish a single price for the industry."

Maintenance of a blacklist of plumbers who are backward in payment of pre-arranged discount or cash understanding of the defendants, is also charged in the complaint.

J. Kelly Dead in Texas; Relatives Sought Here

A man named Walter Kelly, believed to be the brother of J. W. Kelly, who died at Dallas, Tex., Monday, is being sought by the police here. Chief Shaughnessy, received a telegram today from a Dallas undertaker, stating that a J. W. Kelly died there and that he is supposed to have a brother, Walter, and a mother in Madison. No Walter Kelly is listed in the city directory. The undertaker is seeking directions to the disposition of the body.

New Test Will Rid State Of All Diptheria, Belief

Complete elimination of diphtheria from Wisconsin through application of new discoveries in medical science, is anticipated by the state board of health in a statement today. It will bring before the people of the state full advantage of the preventive processes, which it believes will finally cause disappearance of the disease.

Through deputy state health officers and county nurses, the department will commence to obtain the immunization of all Wisconsin school children. The Schich test, free from all danger, and inexpensive, is said by the board to determine positively whether or not an individual is susceptible to the disease, and if so, injections of a different serum completely immunize the person for life.

"It is now possible to say with certainty," the board declares, "that diphtheria can be prevented and that not many more years hence there will probably be little of the disease which caused the death of 365 Wisconsin children in 1920 and 295 deaths in the first 10 months of this year."

Mellon is For Cut in Surtax

Urges Reduction to 20 or 25 Percent in Annual Report Today

FOR VET BONUS DELAY

Also Urges Prompt Funding Of 10 Billions Of Foreign Loans

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Further revision of the tax laws, with a reduction of the maximum income surtax rates to 20 or 25 per cent and adjustment of the rates on business profits and estates, is suggested by Secty. Mellon in his first annual report, transmitted today to congress.

The secretary also announces that the treasury's policy with respect to deferment of the soldiers' bonus is unchanged and urges prompt funding of the $10,000,000,000 of foreign loans as "one of the outstanding needs of the present economic situation.

Mr. Mellon also informs congress that the maturity within the next 18 months of $6,750,000,000 of the short dated debt "makes it imperative that the government pursue a policy of the utmost economy and avoid new undertakings that would throw additional burdens on the treasury and embarrass the funding operations" with respect to the floating debt.

Revenue revision is the subject upon which the secretary lays the most stress. He says the changes in the tax law voted by congress last month, "gave substantial relief to business and industry, and restored in some measure the freedom of business transactions, but our system of taxation still requires careful consideration. He then says that if the loss of revenue resulting from the reductions in surtax and other rates suggested cannot be made up by "rigid economy in expenditures" it can be met "either by placing a tax on certain specific articles, or by a low rate general tax on a broad class of articles or transactions."

"It is of vital importance," Mr. Mellon declares, "that adjustment be made in our scheme of taxation whereby the burden will not fall unduly, either directly or indirectly, upon any particular class, and at the same time will not seriously interfere with productive industry and the general prosperity of the country.

"It would not seem either wise or necessary to change from our present system of taxation to new and untried plans. By retaining the income tax with reasonable surtax rates, which in peace times ultimately should not rise above 10 per cent, tax payers would still be required to contribute in proportion to their ability to pay: while by playing a certain amount of tax on specific articles, or transactions, a low rate that they could readily be borne without injury, the income tax could be materially simplified, the tax laws could be more readily administered and at the same time the needed revenues would be raised without the evil effects now resulting from the present excessive rates of taxation."

He reiterated arguments that the effect of high surtax rates is to keep new capital out of produitive enterprise, and to prevent normal business transactions with the result that natural industrial development is retarded.

Rubs Wife With Moon But Must Pay $100

Despite the first-rate uses to which Steven Day, in whose home a still and some mash was recently found, claims he put his moonshine, he was fined $100 and costs by Judge Hoppmann in superior court today for violatinn the excise laws.

Day explained to the judge that the liquor he has is used, both internally and externally, for his wife, who has paralysis. When he told the court that the moonshine was used to rub his wife, a smile played about Judge Hoppmann's lips.

"If that is so," he remarked, "then its the first good use I've ever heard of for moonshine."

U. S. May Resume Its Trade With Russia

WASHINGTON — Preparations by the department of commerce for a possible resumption of trade relations with Russia at some future date are indicated in estimates for the next fiscal year submitted to congress.

Officials explained today that although the policy of the American government involving non-recognition of the soviet regime still was unchanged, the commerce department was keeping in close touch with foreign trade developments in Russia in view of the competition which could be expected from other nations should America re-enter the markets of that country.

Text of Irish Peace Pact

LONDON—The text of the agreement between Great Britain and Ireland, as given out here late on Tuesday following a conference between Irish and British delegates, is given here in full:

ARTICLE I.

Ireland shall have the same constitutional status in the community of nations known as the British empire as the dominion of Canada, the commonwealth of Australia, the dominion of New Zealand and the union of South Africa, with a parliament having powers to make laws for peace and order and good government in Ireland, and an executive responsible to that parliament and shall be styled and known as the Irish free state.

ARTICLE II.

Subject to provisions hereinafter set out, the position of the Irish free state in relation to the imperial parliament, the government, and otherwise shall be that of the dominion of Canada and the law, practice and constitutional usage governing the relationship of the crown or representative of the crown and the imperial parliament to the dominion of Canada shall govern their relationship to the Irish free state.

ARTICLE III.

A representative of the crown in Ireland shall be appointed in like manner as the governor general of Canada and in accordance with the practice observed in making such appointments.

ARTICLE IV.

The oaths to be taken by the members of the parliament of the Irish free state shall be in the following form:

"I do solemnly swear through faith and allegiance to the constitution of the Irish free state as by law established, and that I will be faithful to his majesty, King Georve V, and his heirs and successors by law, in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland with great Britain and her adherence to and membership of the group of nations forming the British commonwealth of nations."

ARTICLE V.

The Irish free state shall assume liability for service of the public debt of the united kingdom as existing at the date thereof and toward the payment of war pensions as existing on that date in such proportions as may be fair and equitable, having regard for any just claims on the part of Ireland by way of set off or counter claim, the amount of such sums being determined, in default of agreement, by the arbitration of one or more independent persons being citizens of the British empire.

ARTICLE VI

Until an arrangement has been made between the British and Irish governments where-

Victory For Liberals In Canada Vote

Progressive Party, Founded by Farmers, Sweeps West Provinces

(By the Associated Press)

OTTAWA—Although returns from yesterday's general election were still incomplete today, it was apparent that for the first time in 10 years Canada had elected a parliament with a majority favoring reciprocity with the U. S.

In the new house of commons W. L. Mackenzie-King, liberal, will have a clear majority over all parties. He will thus become prime minister. The progressives, also favoring reciprocity and a low tariff, will rank second and the high tariff party headed by Premier Meighen, third.

Mr. Meighen himself was defeated in Portage La Prairie, Man., his home district.

The fall of the Meighen government with its high tariff platform was as spectacular as the defeat of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's liberal administration in 1911 on its policy of reciprocity with the U. S.

The new progressive party, led by T. A. Crerar of Manitoba, swept the western provinces but captured comparatively few divisions of the east. This group, originally made up of farmers, stands for tariff revision downward even more drastic than the liberals propose. Its members are in sympathy with the reciprocity movement.

William L. Mackenzie-King, who will be the next premier, is a grandson of William L. Mackenzie, a leader in the struggle for responsible government in Canada. He is 47 years of age. He holds postgraduate degrees from the University of Chicago and Harvard.

He was minister of labor for Canada for eight years in the Laurier government.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the last 24 hours was 32 at 2 p. m. and the lowest was 27 at 6 a. m. Sun sets at 4:24.

Light rains accompany an area of low barometer on the southern plains. Weather somewhat cloudy around Great Lakes with snow flurries. Barometer is high in northwest with fair weather. Temperature continues high in Rocky mountains and plateau region on account of clear skies but there has not been much change in temperature in any section of the country.

Harding Plan On Bonds Is Favored Here

State Treasurer Johnson Says Millions Going Into Securities

That action will probably be taken at the next session of the legislature in line with President Harding's recommendation on tax exempt bonds was the statement made today by State Treasurer Henry Johnson.

"I am heartily in favor of the suggestion of the president with respect to tax exempt bonds," said Mr. Johnson today. "In this office we are continually receiving letters from all parts of the country asking us about bonds in the state of Wisconsin that are tax exempt. Millions of dollars that ought to go into business are going into tax exempt securities every month."

That the bankers will be in favor of the Harding plan was also a claim made today. It is held that millions of dollars have been withdrawn from savings departments in the last year to invest in tax exempt bonds.

Night Rider Appleton Case To Jury Soon

Charged John M. Black Sent to Insane Asylum Through Visit

OSHKOSH, Wis. — In the Appleton case in which it was charged that John M. Black of Kaukauna was made insane through a night visit made by prominent Appleton men in the drive for the Fourth Liberty loan, the attorneys for the defense are expected to complete their arguments by Thursday and the jury will probably be charged on Saturday. Mrs. Black sued for $25,000, claiming her husband's mind became unbalanced as a result of alleged strong arm methods used by the Liberty Loan campaigners. The defense claimed he was insane before the committee called at his home.

Judge B. B. Park Friday afternoon denied a motion of Atty. P. H. Martin for a nonsuit.

The plaintiff's attorneys finished their side of the case at 11:45 a. m. but reserved the right to call a witness who was absent. Attorney Martin immediately moved for the nonsuits and was ready to present his argument if the court so desired.

The early part of the session was taken up with expert testimony by Dr. F. E. Donaldson and Dr. W. N. Nolan of Kaukauna who were called to Mr. Black's home shortly after the visit in question and who pronounced him insane when he was committed to the state hospital at Oshkosh.

A hypothetical question covering several typewritten pages and all the details of the visit was put to each of them on their direct examination. Both were of the opinion that Mr. Black's present mental condition was due to the shock which he received on the occasion of the night raid.

Anton Miller, assemblyman of the second district of Outagamie county, testified he had known Mr. Black all his life and that he had never seen anything wrong with him up to the night of Oct. 19, 1918.

King George Releases 3,400 Irish Prisoners; Peace Treaty to Pass

British Parliament Will Meet Dec. 14 to Consider Treaty

DE VALERA IS SILENT

Notes of Warning Sounded; Say Trouble May Still Lie Ahead

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON — King George today issued a proclamation releasing all political prisoners interned in Ireland.

Approximately 3,400 interned persons are affected by the release order which relates to all persons under interment as distinguished from those who have been tried and convicted, it was stated by the Irish office.

The following announcement was made from Downing Street:

"In view of the agreement signed yesterday between the British and Irish delegations His Majesty has approved the release forthwith of all Irish interned under article XIV B. of the restoration of order in Ireland, act. Instructions to this effect have been given."

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON — Ulster's attitude toward the establishment of the Irish Free State was to be defined today at a meeting of Sir James Craig's cabinet. A copy of the treaty signed by the British and Sinn Fein peace delegates reached Belfast yesterday. Ulster's consent is not necessary as under the treaty terms she is given the option of retaining her present status after revision of her boundaries by a commission.

Favorable action by the Dail Eirrean is thought to be fairly well assured and that of the Imperial parliament which has been summoned to meet Dec. 14, is a foregone conclusion should the Dail approve the treaty.

Here and there, amid the chorus of praise for the agreement, are sounded notes of warning that trouble may yet break out before a final settlement is effected and this warning does not come from quarters opposing the agreement. It is pointed out that nobody has yet drawn from Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader a statement as to his attitude toward the plan.

In this connection the Westminster Gazette says:

"He (DeValera) will not openly oppose the agreement if he can be persuaded that it is for the permanent peace of Ireland."

The newspaper also learns it says that the government view is "We are not out of the woods yet; there may still be troubles and difficulties ahead."

In other quarters this is the attitude of the Irish extremists is causing anxiety to the delegates. These warnings are accompanied by expressions of hope and belief that the difficulties can be overcome.

The only opposing voice of consequence thus far is that of Sir Edward Carson, former Ulster leader who is quoted as declaring:

"I never thought that I should live to see a day of such abject humiliation for Great Britain."

the empire.

King George came to London to preside at a meeting of the privy council and sign a proclamation calling a special session of parliament for Wednesday next to consider the momentous agreement reached between Great Britain and Ireland for the establishment of the Irish Free State.

The session will last only a few days and the parliament will adjourn until the regular session in February when a bill embodying the agreement will be dealt with. The special session will be limited to Irish affairs.

Lorenz to Leave U. S. in Face of Attack

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Dr. Adolph Lorenz, famous Austrian surgeon announced today that in view of the opposition to his professional activities in this country from the medical profession he would discontinue further free clinics and return to Vienna as soon as possible.

Dr. Lorenz explained his decision in the following statement:

"In view of the widespread and great opposition to my professional activities in this country from the ranks of the medical profession which I had hoped to conciliate, I feel I must discontinue all my plans and return to my beloved Vienna.

"I harbor no malice against the American profession and hope they will soon reconsider and accept the preferred hand of friendship with the Austrian brethren. If once the ice is broken the current will do the rest and in the near future a reconciliation must take place anyhow.

"First, my great mission was to thank the American people for all they have done for the starving little children of Vienna, I did not fail in this, my endeavors to conciliate the profession failed. I made super-human efforts, I tried in vain, I am sorry."

U.W. Woman Instructor Is Badly Burned

Dorothy Roberts Injured When Alcohol Explodes

Miss Dorothy Roberts, an instructor in the home economics department of the university, was badly burned this afternoon, when some alcohol she was using exploded.

A physician was summoned from the university infirmary, to which Miss Roberts was quickly removed. Members of the home economics department could not give details of the accident.

Teckam Fined $500 After Big Dry Raid

Emil Techam, 2531 Monroe st., at whose home seven barrels of mash were discovered recently in a raid by police officials, was fined $500 and costs this morning by Judge Hoppmann in superior court. Dist. Atty. Lewis recommended the high fine, declaring Teckam's case to be one of the most flagrant violations of the liquor laws that had ever come into superior court. If Teckam cannot produce the fine, he will be sent to the county jail for six months. The court also ordered that the mash be confiscated. Teckam told the court that he did not know the name of the man with whom he had entered into partnership in the manufacture of the "moonshine," and that he had wanted his share of it only for his own use.

NEW TERM OPENS.

The regular December term of the county court opened before Judge Zimmerman Tuesday with 136 calendar cases for disposition as follows: 18 wills for probate, 18 intestate for administration, 41 estates for final settlement, 8 guardian appointments for incompetents, 6 miscellaneous proceedings, besides 46 estates for disposition of claims.

WISCONSIN SENATORS PRESENT AS HARDING READS HIS MESSAGE

WASHINGTON — Senators La Follette and Lenroot were present when President Harding read his message to the senate and house on Tuesday. Senator Lenroot occupied a place near the front of the house with Senator Hale, Maine, to his left and Senator Walsh, Montana, to his right. La Follette was seated just across the aisle. Lenroot applauded the president's message vigorously. Senator La Follette did not applaud Harding.

Church Crowded for Groves' Funeral Rites

The First Methodist church was filled almost to capacity this afternoon, when funeral services for John W. Groves, ex-mayor of Madison, who died here Monday, were held. A review of Mr. Groves' life was given by Rev. Frank Nuzum, Baraboo, a cousin of Mr. Groves. No regular sermon was preached.

The body was taken to the church early in the afternoon and was viewed by the large number of the deceased's friends. Burial was at Forest Hill cemetery.

Colleagues of Sanborn Laud Judge's Work

Career As Jurist Praised in Impressive Memorial Services

The hanging of a portrait of the late Judge Arthur Loomis Sanborn of the U. S. district court of the Western district of Wisconsin, and the presentation of several memorials marked the esteem in which the departed magistrate was held by the members of his profession, both in Madison and elsewhere. The memorial services were simple but impressive.

The portrait was presented by Mrs. A. L. Sanborn and family. Memorials were given by the Dane County Bar association, the Chicago Patent Lawyers association, and responses were made by Judge Claude Z. Luse present judge of the district court. Relatives and friends of the deceased were present, including Justice Burr W. Jones of the state supreme court, and Rufus B. Smith, the oldest member of the Dane County Bar association. In addition to the facts concerning the life of Judge Sanborn, familiar to those who knew him, the Bar association memorial contained the following:

'Judge Sanborn measured up to the highest standards as lawyer and judge. He was a student and had a profound knowledge of the law, and was an expert in practice. He possessed to a remarkable degree the ability to analyze, distinguish and apply judicial decisions and statute law, and his prominence and success as a lawyer and a jurist were chiefly due to his natural talent in legal research combined with great industry, a judicial temperament, and a well-trained legal mind.

"His activities were conducted in a quiet, unassuming manner, characteristic of a well-bred man conscious of his duties and responsibilities, and ever displaying dignity and innate modesty."

The memorial was submitted by a committee consisting of William R. Bagley, Charles F. Lamb and Henry T. Sheldon. The Chicago Patent Lawyers association, by Charles C. Buckley, presented a memorial, part of which follows:

"While of course Judge Sanborn's judicial work was not confined to any one branch of the law, and he attained a well deserved reputation as a fair, able and learned judge in all classes of litigation, yet no members of the legal profession sustained a greater loss in the death of Judge Sanborn, than did the patent lawyers, for he not only took a keen interest in the trial of patent cases but was endowed to an unusual degree with ability to readily understand mechanical structures.

"In the death of Judge Sanborn litigants have lost an upright and impartial arbitrator; members of the bar who practiced before him, a patient, courteous and understanding judge; the community in which he lived and the country at large a loyal citizen of high ideals; and the hosts of those who were so fortunate as to know him intimately, a genial companion and sympathetic friend."

Judge Luse made the responses to the memorials, and accepted the portrait. He said in part:

"There is an element of comfort to the speaker in the fact that, however halting and inadequate may be this response to the Memorials and remarks now presented, the worth of Judge Sanborn as lawyer and jurist is already spread upon the records of this court. In large part it was within these four walls that this characteristics as lawyer and jurist found expression, and it is indeed fitting that we should now pause and here record our summarized impressions of him and that the records of this Court may disclose, following the word 'Finis' at the close of the entries for October 18th, 1920, the evidence of the faith of those remaining, that Arthur L. Sanborn, man, student, lawyer and jurist, was received by his Maker with the words: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

SMALL TOWN STUDENTS ARE IN THE LEAD SAYS WATERLOO'S EDITOR

Editor H. A. Whipple, of The Waterloo Democrat, says:

"Where you come from does not matter so much as where you are going, is again demonstrated by the list of honor students in the sophomore class of the university. We note that Mayville, Hartford, Tomahawk, Ripon, Highland, Birnamwood, Plymouth, Monroe, Edgerton, Muscoda, Spooner, Spring Green, Prairie du Chien, North Fond du Lac, Sturgeon Bay, Galesville, Ladysmith, Fountain City, Stoughton, Fort Atkinson, Mondovi, McFarland and Burlington are represented by the people who have the scholarship marks. Milwaukee has only eight students in the list, Kenosha one, and none of the larger cities has any. This should prove to the young people who are attending high schools in small towns that they are getting as good a preparation for college as is given in the larger cities."

by the Irish free state undertakes her own coast defense, defense by sea of Great Britain and Ireland shall be undertaken by his majesty's imperial forces but this shall not prevent the construction or maintenance by the government for the protection of the revenue or the fisheries. The foregoing provisions of this article shall be reviewed at a conference of representatives of the British and Irish governments to be held at the expiration of five years from the date hereof with a view to the undertaking by Ireland of a share in her own coastal defense.

ARTICLE VII.

The government of the Irish free state shall afford to his majesty's imperial force (a) in time of peace such harbor and other facilities as are indicated in the annex hereto, or such other facilities as may from time to time be agreed between the British government and the government of the Irish free state, and (b) in time of war or of strained relations with a foreign power such harbor and other facilities as the British government may require for the purpose of such defense, as aforesaid.

ARTICLE VIII.

With a view to securing observance of the article of international limitation of armaments, if the government of the Irish free state establishes and maintains a military defense force the establishment thereof shall not exceed in size such proportion of the military establishments maintained in Great Britain as that which the population of Ireland bears to the population of Great Britain.

ARTICLE IX.

The ports of Great Britain and the Irish Free State shall be freely open to the ships of the other country on the payment of the customary port and other dues.

ARTICLE X.

The government of the Irish Free State agrees to pay fare compensation on terms not less favorable than those accorded by the act of 1920, to judges, officials, members of police forces and other public servants who are discharged by it or who retire in consequence of the change of government effected in pursuance of the hereof paragraph:

Provided that this agreement shall not apply to members of the auxiliary police force or persons recruited in Great Britain for the Royal Irish Constabulary during the two years next preceding the date hereof. The British government will assume responsibility for such compensation of pensions as may be payable to any of these excepted persons.

ARTICLE XI.

Until the expiration of one month from the passing of the act of parliament for the ratification of this instrument the powers of the parliament and government of the Irish Free State shall not be exercisable as respects northern Ireland, and the provisions of the government of Ireland act of 1920 shall so far as they relate to northern Ireland remain of full force and effect, and no election shall be held for the return of members to serve in the parliament of the Irish Free State for the constituencies of northern Ireland unless a resolution is passed by both houses of parliament of northern Ireland in favor of holding such elections before the end of said month.

ARTICLE XII.

If before the expiration of said month an address is presented to His Majesty by both houses of parliament of northern Ireland to that effect, the powers of the parliament and government of the Irish Free State shall no longer extend to northern Ireland and the provisions of the government of Ireland act of 1920 (including those relating to the council of Ireland) shall so far as they relate to northern Ireland, continue to be of full force and effect, and this instrument shall have effect, subject to the necessary modifications;

Provided, that if such an address is so presented, a commission consisting of three persons, one to be appointed by the government of the Irish Free State, one to be appointed by the government of northern Ireland and one, who shall be chairman, to be appointed by the British government, shall determine in accordance with the wishes of the inhabitants, so far as may be compatible with economic and geographic conditions, the boundaries between northern Ireland and the rest of Ireland, for the purposes of the government of Ireland act of 1920 and of this instrument the boundary of northern Ireland shall be such as may be determined by such commission.

ARTICLE XIII.

For the purpose of the last foregoing article the powers of the parliament of southern Ireland under the government of Ireland act of 1920, to elect members of the council of Ireland, shall after the parliament of the Irish Free State is constituted be exercised by that parliament.

ARTICLE XIV.

After the expiration of said month, if no such address as mentioned in article XII. hereof is presented, the parliament of the government of northern Ireland shall continue to exercise as respects northern Ireland the powers conferred upon them by the government of Ireland act of 1920, but the parliament of the government of the Irish Free State shall in northern Ireland have in relation to matters, in repect of which the parliament of northern Ireland has not the power to make laws under that act (including matters which, under said act, are waiting the jurisdiction of the council of Ireland), the same powers as in the rest of Ireland, subject to such other provision as may be agreed to in the manner hereinafter appearing.

ARTICLE XV.

At any time after the date hereof the government of northern Ireland and the provisional government of southern Ireland, hereinafter constituted, may meet for the purpose of discussing provisions, subject to which the last of the foregoing article is to operate in the event of no such address as is therein mentioned being presented, and those provisions may include (a) safeguards with regard to patronage in northern Ireland; (b) safeguards with regard to the collection of revenue in northern Ireland; (c) safeguards with regard to import and export duties affecting the trade and industry of northern Ireland; (d) safeguards for the minorities in northern Ireland; (e) settlement of financial relations between northern Ireland and the Irish free state; (f) establishment and powers of a local militia in northern Ireland and the relation of the defense forces of the Irish free state and of northern Ireland, respectively, and if at any such meeting provisions are agreed to the same shall have effect as if they were included among the provisions subject to which the powers of parliament and of the government of the Irish free state are to be exercisable in northern Ireland under article 14 hereof.

ARTICLE XVI.

Neither the parliament of the Irish free state nor the parliament of northern Ireland shall make any law so as either directly or indirectly to endow any religion or prohibit or restrict the free exercise thereof, or give any preference or impose any disability on the account of religious belief or religious status, or affect prejudicially the right of any child to attend school receiving public money without attending the religious instruction of the school, or make any discrimination as respects state aid between schools under the management of the different religious denominations, or divert from any religious denomination or any educational institution any of its property, except for public utility purposes and on the payment of compensation.

ARTICLE XVII.

By way of provisional arrangement for the administration of southern Ireland during the interval which must elapse between the date hereof and the constitution of a parliament and a government of the Irish free state in accordance therewith, steps shall be taken forthwith for summoning a meeting of the members of parliament elected for constituencies in southern Ireland since the passing of the government of Ireland act in 1920 and for constituting a provisional government, and the British government shall take steps necessary to transfer to such provisional government the powers and machinery requisite for the discharge of its duties, provided that every member of such provisional government shall have signified in writing his or her acceptance of the instrument. But this arrangement shall not continue in force beyond the expiration of twelve months from the date hereof.

ARTICLE XVIII.

This instrument shall be submitted forthwith by his majesty's government for the approval of parliament and by the Irish signatories to a meeting summoned for the purpose of members elected to sit in the house of commons of southern Ireland, and if approved it shall be ratified by the necessary legislation.

100 Killed in German Blast; Fire Spreads

Factory and Part of Town Wrecked by Dynamite Explosion

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—The bodies of only 13 of the more than 100 persons killed in the explosion yesterday at the Nobel Dynamite works at Saarlouise, Rhenish Prussia, have been recovered.

The explosion which occurred in an oil tank, destroyed the greater part of the factory. Houses in the neighborhood suffered, roofs were blown off and walls collapsed. Fire which started in the ruins spread to the surrounding forests.

W. Planert to Head South Madison Club

Walter Planert was chosen president of the South Madison Community Church association at a meeting in the church Tuesday night. Others elected were: A. G. Banting, first vice president; E. W. Swadley, second vice president; Mrs. H. G. Waterman, third vice president; Mrs. John Wagner, fourth vice president; Charles Waddell, secretary; Robert Culp, treasurer.

Scoutmaster Glenn Custer gave a report of the work of the scout troop number 10, and Mrs. William Barter made the report of the Ladies Aid society. The executive board which is composed of Rev. I. C. Lake, Dr. W. T. Lindsay, president of the Development association; Mrs. William Barter, president of the Ladies Aid; Edwin Eggers, chairman of the school board; Miss Frieda Schuele president of the Beaunot club; all of whom are ex-officio members; Scoutmaster Glenn Custer; the trustees, A. G. Banting, H. G. Waterman, and John Kneebone; in addition to the other officers of the association, will discuss the question of scouting at the next regular monthly meeting. A card party to be held in the basement of the church was suggested as a means of raising funds for the Ladies Aid.

GIVES LAND TO STATE.

Several hundred acres of choice virgin land around Fountain City, Wis., have been turned over to the conservation commission by John A. Lach, Winona, Minn., for a state park and game preserve.

FINE GAME VIOLATORS.

Prison sentences and fines of $500 and $1,000 were handed six deer-law violators by Judge G. Goodrick, Antigo, according to word received by the state conservation. Three of the men were caught with deer and a dog. The law prohibits hunting of deer with dogs.

MANUFACTURERS MEET.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin Merchants' and Manufacturers' association will be held Dec. 14-15 at the Pfister hotel in Milwaukee. Five hundred Wisconsin manufacturers have notified Secretary George Kull that they will attend.

A strong program will be arranged, including talks by a number of prominent state officials and manufacturers. State Treasurer Henry Johnson will talk on state finances.

WILL HANDLE MILK.

In addition to handling manufactured butter, the Capital Dairy Co. 640 W. Wilson st., will sell milk at both wholesale and retail prices, beginning Dec. 15. The company will deliver the milk to the doors of its patrons.

PLENTY OF GAME.

A plentiful supply of game in northern Wisconsin for many years to come is predicted by W. E. Barber, chairman of the state conservation commission. According to Mr. Barber there has been an increase in all kinds of game except deer.

INCREASE WATER RATE.

The Platteville water commission was authorized by the Wisconsin railroad commission to increase water rates for that city. Under the ruling $8,415 was fixed as the amount to be paid for fire protection service. Unmetered rates were increased 25 per cent.

"MY LITTLE GIRL HAS GAINED 15 POUNDS," SAYS HAPPY MOTHER

Little Rhode Island Girl Is As Bright and Cheery and Her Cheeks Are As Rosy As Ever.

SHE CAN NOW KEEP UP IN HER CLASSES

"Only a Mother Can Understand What I Suffered When I Saw My Daughter Slowly Wasting Away," Says Mrs. Mary Smith.

"Every time I look at my little girl's rosy cheeks my heart goes out in praise and gratitude to Tanlac," said Mrs. Mary Smith, of Peacedale, R. I., a suburb of Providence, recently.

"Until Mary was eleven years of age she always enjoyed good health and had a very happy, fun-loving disposition. However, during the past three years she became very thin and frail. She took on a very sallow color, her tongue coated over, she complained of a bad taste in her mouth, dull headaches, and of feeling languid and tired all the time. She lost her sunny disposition and became nervous, irritable and moody. Her appetite got so poor that I had to coax her to eat. Her sleep was fitful, her eyes dull, and her steps so heavy that it seemed she hadn't strength to lift her feet from the floor.

"She had always stood high in her studies, but now her reports were so bad that her teacher called on me to find out why she had gone back so in her lessons. When I asked her why she had failed so in her school work she cried and said she studied as hard as ever, but couldn't seem to remember. Only a mother can understand what I suffered when I saw my daughter slowly, but surely, fading away each day. I could hardly keep back the tears when I looked at her.

"Six months ago we took her out of school, thinking this might help her, but she continued to grow worse. We were told she would get better when she got older, but I was afraid she couldn't live and have shed many a tear over her condition. In fact, my husband and myself, both, were downright sick from worry over her, and yet, nothing did her any good.

"One day my husband said, 'Why not have Mary try Tanlac? Each morning I have read in the papers of someone being helped by it and it may be what she needs.'

"Well, I had tried everything else, so as a last resort I had Mary try Tanlac and I have felt thankful a thousand times that I did. Before she finished the first bottle she was eating like I have been wanting to see her eat for three years. Now she is the first to the table and the last to leave. She has gained fifteen pounds and is still gaining, and her face is as round and rosy as it ever was. Her eyes sparkle with health, her steps are light, and she is as full of life as a kitten. It does my heart good to hear her running around, singing and laughing and enjoying life and good health again. My gratitude to Tanlac is unbounded."

Tanlac is sold in Madison by the Luckey Pharmacies and by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

[illegible] T. Toebaas of Jackman, [illegible] and Toebaas, will defend the [illegible]. U. S. Dist. Atty. W. H. [illegible]herty will prosecute for the [illegible]nment.

An unexpected turn took place in [illegible] case against Felix White, alias [illegible], Winnebago Indian, formerly [illegible] Black River Falls, Wis., charged [illegible] a violation of the Mann act. [illegible] jury was drawn in the case and [illegible] was ready to be opened when [illegible] a short recess. H. M. Perry, [illegible]torney for the Indian, announced [illegible] he did not believe that the court had jurisdiction in this case.

Mr. Daugherty said that Mr. Perry contends that White is a "tribal Indian" and as such the laws of the United States do not apply to him, except as they are specifically designated. The jury was dismissed. Arguments regarding the constitutionality will be heard at [illegible] Thursday morning by Judge [illegible]. It was stipulated that should [illegible] court be found to have jurisdiction, the defendant would plead guilty to the charges in the indictment. He is charged with having transported Susie Hoppinka, Winnebago Indian girl from Wittenburg, Wis., to Winnebago, Neb., for al[illegible] immoral purposes.

The cases against Henry Jefferson and [illegible] Robinson, colored, both of Madison, charged with having liquor in their possession and maintaining a nuisance at 810 Milton st., was dismissed by Judge Luse on recommendation of Mr. Daugherty, who declared that the government has not sufficient evidence to prosecute. They were indicted for offenses committed on Sept. 20, 1920.

Peter Pilchowski, Edgerton, charged in an information with a violation of the liquor laws, was [illegible] with costs, when a plea [illegible] guilty was entered by Harry [illegible], his attorney. Pilchowski [illegible] to have "tended" a still for another man.

Two cases were put over to the [illegible] term in Superior. They [illegible] against John Mintal and Stef[illegible], upon whom sentence for [illegible] of liquor law violations [illegible] been deferred.

Several other cases are scheduled for today and tomorrow. Calisto [illegible], and Frank Congalesi, 2 S. Murray st., will face trial for liquor law violations. Five alleged freight car thieves, four of whom are foreigners who have not been in this country long, were to be arraigned today. Their names are Arne Salo, Frank Niemi, Matt Kajua, John Langala and Nestor Paju.

105 Managers and Employes of Keeley-Neckerman Given Banquet By the New Owner

Harry S. Manchester is Host to Members of Organization; Christmas Bonus Plan Announced

Good news and good spirit was the keynote of the Get Together banquet held at the Park Hotel Tuesday night by 105 managers and employees of the Keeley-Neckerman Co.

Harry S. Manchester, who recently purchased the store from the Keeley family, acted as toastmaster. The affair was entirely informal and was featured by an inspiring talk on "Personal Service to Customers" by Edward H. Gardner, professor of business administration at the university.

Prof. Gardner emphasized the imperative need of personal service to every customer that is essential if a store is to build and maintain a steady, loyal and growing business. No person is immune from the accepted business axiom that he will respond to friendly treatment; treatment that is accorded to a clerk's personal friends and which if extended in the same manner to all customers, will eventually lead to his continued and probably exclusive trade.

Mr. Manchester announced a new policy of Christmas bonuses that is to be inaugurated this year. The plan is similar to systems that are in vogue in larger cities where the bonus system is figured on the amount of business done. He also explained that one of the reasons for his purchase of the store was the magnificent spirit of cooperation evident in all the personnel of clerks, buyers, managers and executives. It was very seldom, he continued, that such spirit is found and that with a foundation of good will on the interior immediate success was assured.

D. C. Sullivan and Leo Fay expressed the appreciation and thanks of the employes for the treatment and relations experienced with the outgoing management. Mr. Sullivan has been with the Keeley interests for twenty-five years and is now in charge of the rug department. Leo Fay is a veteran of the mercantile business and is recognized as one of the most efficient window display men in the middle west.

V. S. Bond is a former merchandise man who is the secretary and treasurer of the new company. He spoke briefly of his interest in merchandising which was temporarily interrupted by insurance connections. Mr. Bond related of his many talks with Mr. Anderson regarding retail business in Madison and his final decision to return to his first love which has now materialized with his present position.

George K. Anderson thanked those present for their good wishes and hoped that the pleasant relations he had enjoyed would be extended to Mr. Manchester and his associates.

Between the courses and speeches the diners joined together for several songs. Some exceptionally well trained voices were discovered and plans are now under-way to form a store choral society.

Mrs. Manchester came from Evanston to attend the banquet.

Capitol Employes to Have Odd Xmas Fest

Capitol employes are preparing for a unique Christmas party. Instead of the usual Christmas tree in the rotunda and the "catch and grab" distribution of gifts to the children of the city, statehouse men and women will put on a vaudeville entertainment from their own number. Ten of the largest departments and commissions will participate. Fred W. Huels will be the impressario. Huels will direct the performance and supervise the staging. The Capitol Mutual club will charge admission to the performance and use the proceeds for distribution of Christmas cheer to the needy.

Christ Vick Gets Two Year Prison Term

Stole Pig; Companion, Alfred Berg is Put On Probation

Christ Vick of Stoughton, who pleaded guilty last week in Superior court to stealing Mrs. Sella Bjelda's pig, was sentenced to two years of hard labor at Waupun today by Judge A. C. Hoppmann upon recommendation of Dist. Atty. Theodore G. Lewis.

Vick, the district attorney explained, had been found guilty recently of larceny twice within ten days and the neighbors in his community declare that he has been looting and pilfering unchecked for the past six months, stealing potatoes, gasoline, wood, automobile tires and other things.

Vick entered an affidavit of indigency in court, but it was shown that he had several times been offered work and had refused it. Mrs. Vick, who appeared in court this morning, had hysterics after hearing her husband's sentence.

His companion in the theft, Alfred Berg, also of Stoughton was put on probation to the county probation officer for a period of two years. He must make full restitution to Mrs. Bjelde in the sum of $30.

In his order Judge Hoppmann declared that Berg would have been sent to prison had it not been for circumstances surrounding the case. He has a family, has been unable to obtain work for some time, and his credit at both butcher and grocer has been stopped. He was almost destitute, and his wife is in ill health.

H. Wells To Speak Here on Soviet Russia

Former Seattle Labor Leader in Address On Famine Dec. 12

Hulet M. Wells, will speak on "Bolshevism and Famine" in Madison, Dec. 12 in The Woman's building at 8 p. m.

He has just returned from a four months trip through Russia, the latter portion of which was through the famine area of the Volga region in company with Kalinin, president of the Russian Soviet Republic. He has firsthand knowledge of the terrible privations suffered by the Russian workehs in their effort to build up a working-class republic. Wells went to Russia as correspondent for the Labor Daily of Seattle and has already written a series of articles which outline his interesting story of working-class achievement in Soviet Russia. He was present at the several international labor congresses at Moscow and can tell of the splendid growth of the international working class movement.

Wells was formerly president of the Seattle Central Labor Council. He took a leading part in the celebrated Seattle general strike.

His lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the local chapter of Friends of Soviet Russia, which is engaged in the collection of funds for famine relief for the starving Russian people in cooperation with The American Labor Alliance, and individuals from other local organizations.

The Scheduled Speed

of the street cars is about 9 miles per hour and their maximum speed is 23 miles per hour.

The maximum speed is limited as a precaution against accidents because of the great amount of vehicular traffic on the streets. The schedule speed is the average speed and is limited only by delays due to traffic conditions, waiting at railroad crossings and stopping for passengers. Every small delay which is eliminated increases the schedule speed and by that much improves the service. A multitude of small delays makes a big difference in time during the course of a day.

Guatemala in Revolt; Head is Overthrown

President Herrera in Prison; 12 Killed During Uprising, Report

(By the Associated Press)

GUATEMALA CITY—The government of Pres. Carlos Herrera was overthrown after fighting in which three persons were killed and several wounded. The president surrendered his powers to a provisional government headed by Gen. Jose Maria Lima, Gen. Orellana and Miguel Larrave, former under-secretary of war.

Herrera Held Prisoner.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Carlos Herrera, whose government was overthrown in Guatemala, was reported today to be a prisoner in his residence. Members of the Herrera cabinet, the advices said, were being held in the military prison.

About a dozen persons were killed in the revolution, the official advices today said and many have been arrested. The revolution began about midnight Monday and was accomplished by 5 a. m. Tuesday. Persons here in close touch with conditions in Guatemala said the revolt was no surprise as the liberal party which is believed here to have brought about the revolution has long been opposed to the Hererra government, particularly in its action in adopting the pact by which Guatemala entered the recently created central American federation. Adoption of the pact, liberal leaders claimed, was unconstitutional.

It is believed the first immediate effect of the revolution will be the disruption of the present federation and the freeing from prison of Estrada Cabrera, former president.

Thompson is Elected K. of P. Chancellor

At the annual election of the Knights of Pythias Lodge Tuesday night, the following officers for 1922 were chosen: D. E. Thompson, chancellor commander; F. M. Wylie, vice chancellor; Martin Loftsgordon, prelate; James Barclay, master of work; O. C. Britt, master of finance; Warren G. Smith, master of exchequer; H. G. Marty, master at arms; Earl D. Parker, keeper of records and seal; Walter Van Keulen, assistant keeper of records and seal; B. R. L'Hommedieu, inner guard; Walter E. Zick, outer guard; Sidney H. Stuart, grand representative; Charles A. Kohn, D. E. Morgan and H. E. Hone, trustees.

A class of twelve pages were initiated, making more than 100 who have been added to the lodge membership this year. Appropriation of $2,500 was made to purchase furniture for the new club rooms in the Insurance Building on Monona avenue, which the lodge will occupy in March.

1922 City Budget To Council Tonight

The 1922 budget of the city of Madison will undoubtedly be adopted by the city council tonight at a special meeting called by Mayor I. M. Kittleson for 8 o'clock, following the meeting of the council claims committee.

The finance committee has slashed apropriations until it has brought the tax rate down to 23½ mills, only one mill above what it was last year. It is believed that it will be impossible to cut the rate any further, but it is said that there may be a fight to cut another mill off the proposed rate.

Install New Pastor of Memorial Church

Rev. Edw. H. Vornholt, the new pastor of Memorial Reformed church, will be installed tonight, at a service to be conducted in German and English at 7:30 p. m. Rev. G. D. Elliker from New Glarus and Rev. W. Grosshuesch will preside.

Santa Will Arrive Here Dec. 10 From North Pole

Santa Claus is coming to Madison Dec. 10, says a letter received by The Capital Times today from Reindeer Village, North Pole. The letter also says he will stay until Christmas, and it is understood that he is bringing a heavy pack with him.

Health Board Will Resume School Work

Board of Education to Turn Over Health Work Next June

The board of education will turn over the direction of its nurses and health clinic to the new board of health next June 30, it was decided at a meeting of the school board Tuesday night. Two resolutions, drawn up at a joint meeting of the school board and the health board last Sunday, were adopted. Referring to both the clinic and the nursing staff, the resolutions state that the board of education shall continue its work "as requested in its budget until June 30, 1922, after which time it is understood and agreed that the budget provision shall be under direction of the board of health and provision shall be made accordingly in the board of health budget."

Special Saturday morning classes in music and drawing have been organized at the high school with the permission of Supt. T. W. Gosling. Violin, coronet and clarinet instruction may be had, and about 100 students have already enrolled. Miss Anna E. Menaul, music instructor, Miss Frances Beecher and John Jaquish are handling this work.

Miss Beecher was appointed last night as an assistant to Miss Menaul. Mrs. Cleo E. Flippin was named to succeed Miss Alice Harrington at the Doty school, Miss Harrington having resigned to be married. Miss Josephine Brown of the Lincoln school has resigned, her resignation to become effective Dec. 23. The terms of Joseph H. Brown and William H. Collins, members of the vocational school board, expire Dec. 31, and the ques- board, appointed by the regular schol board expire Dec. 31, and the question of their re-election will come before the meeting of the board Dec. 20.

Theaters Aid in Mail Early Campaign

Madison theaters are co-operating with Postmaster W. A. Devine in the conduct of his "Mail Early" campaign, which is intended to remind Madison citizens that the postoffice department is limited in its capacity, and that if all Christmas mailing is left to the last minute, it cannot reach its destination in time.

Slides with the reminder: "MAIL your Christmas packages early; WRAP your Christmas packages securely; HELP the Postoffice boys to render you the best service," are being run. The three punch words, "Mail, Wrap and Help" are printed in red, white and blue, respectively.

Postmaster Devine calls attention to the fact that it is permissible to inscribe on the outside of your package, "Do not open until Christmas."

Favor Neutral China in Case Of A Conflict

Committee Endorses Chinese Demand; Powers Plan Pacific Pact

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Far Eastern committee of the Washington conference resuming its sessions today after a three day recess adopted a resolution providing for the neutrality of China in case of a war in which China is not a party.

This resolution, it was said, covered point eight of China's "bill of rights;" the committee also adopted the Root resolution drafted in sub-committee concerning the wireless installations of foreigners on Chinese soil.

The question of Japanese troops in Manchuria came up for discussion and it was understood Japanese members made a statement to the committee on the subject.

4 Powers Plan Agreement.

WASHINGTON—The four power agreement being considered by the U. S., Great Britain, Japan and France, it was learned today from official American sources would be an agreement for joint consultation on any matters affecting interests of those nations in the Pacific Islands and not an alliance or technical entente.

The agreement is in process of being reduced to treaty form, it was said, and if accepted is to be submitted to the senate.

The proposed undertaking is designed to do away with the Anglo-Japanese alliance and proposals have gone to Japan for renunciation of that aliance if the new government should be consummated.

As now under negotiation the agreement is to be limited to the Pacific islands. Under the tentative proposals each of the powers would agree to consult each other before going to war on any differences that might arise relating to those Islands.

The agreement, American officials said would not deal with fortifications in the Pacific nor with questions relating to the Island of Yap, neither would it deal with any matters affecting China but only those relating to Islands of the Pacific. The questions at issue affecting the Island of Yap, are to be dealt with in a separate treaty.

Disorders Mark 3rd Day of Butcher Strike

CHICAGO — Court action and sporadic disorders, none of which resulted seriously, marked the third day of the packing house workers strike in livestock centers of the middle west whiel both packers and union loaders anounced satisfaction over the situation. Five companies of national guardsmen were on duty at St. Paul to insure safety of employes going to work, while the strikers were threatened with a call for rtoops at Kansas City, Kas., if they disregarded the industrial court order against picketing. An injunction at Ft. Worth, Texas, where numerous fist fights occurred was in effect restraining strikers from picketing or loitering in the vicinity of the yards.

Rood Heads Tenth Ward Association

Community Club Plans to Hold Tree Service; Ela Speaks

Prof. J. T. Rood was elected president of the Tenth Ward association at a meeting last night in the Randall school, at which Emerson Ela, Madison attorney, told of the conditions in central Europe, and details of his visit there this past summer. Others elected were T. E. Williams, vice president; Chester Platt, secretary, and Mrs. A. O. Barton, treasurer.

That practically all of the devastated lands of France have been reclaimed, and are now producing wheat, was the statement made by Mr. Ela. Mr. Ela contrasted very vividly the conditions now existing in France and Germany, describing how the Germans in their forced retreat totally destroyed the French mines.

Reports of committees brought out the fact that a very successful year has just been completed. During the two year term of the retiring officers a great many things were accomplished, such as the establishment of a milk fund for the Camp Randall school children, and the purchase of a new piano for that school. The community Christmas tree celebration will be held Dec. 23. It will be under the direction of A. O. Barton, who was appointed general chairman. Miss Genevieve Hicks played two violin solos accompanied by her sister, Miss Lila Hicks.

Badger Group Led by Hutton Cheers Goff

Wisconsin Delegation Cuts Big Figure at Anti-Saloon Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Wisconsin's delegation will cut a big figure at the 20th national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, which opened here on Tuesday.

Guy D. Goff, assistant to the attorney general and a former Milwaukeean, was given an old fashioned Badger state demonstration when he arrived at the convention Tuesday night, R. P. Hutton, state superintendent, leading the applause.

The Wisconsin delegation of 75 members, 10 from Milwaukee, and representing 33 counties, is the largest state group here.

One of the Badger delegates will introduce a resolution appealing to congress not to pass legislation which would weaken enforcement of prohibition, and upholding Wisconsin as a dry state.

The resolution was set forth that for six years the legislature at Madison has defeated we tmeasures, and will add that this accomplishment in a state that formerly turned out one-sixth of all the beer in the country indicates that the wets are dead ones.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Nicholson of Chicago, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, on Tuesday was elected president of the Anti-Saloon League for the next two years.

Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., former secretary of the navy; Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of Macon, Ga.; Bishop A. h. Clippinger of Dayton, O., and the Rev. S. P. Brooks of Waco, Tex., were elected vice presidents.

Talks On Mounds At Roxana Meeting

Curator Charles E. Brown of the Wisconsin Historical society spoke to the Roxana members and their wives at a banquet in the city Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. His talk was on the local Indian history of Wisconsin, and he followed the path of the Wisconsin tribes from their original home in Virginia, 1,000 years before the advent of the white man, to their villages in this state.

"The Dakota, Winnebago, and other Wisconsin mound-building tribes were driven westward from the Atlantic coast to the west by the Iroquois; they setteld in this state and built mounds, and today we have more mounds in Wisconsin than in any other state, more than one thousand of these are to be found around our five-lake region," he said.

"Each tribe was divided into clans, each of which chose some animal as its guardian spirit. Mounds were builti n the shape of these deities and that a tribe felts its protection depended upon their mounds."

Hugh Montgomery, president, introduced three new members. They are Dr. Carl A. Harper, William Balderston, and Hazen Petrie. Frank R. Horner spoke about the new fields for insurance companies.

Actress At 51 Returns To Stage As Girl of 18, Thanks To Operation; Goes to Bed For Real "Beauty Sleep"

Edna Wallace Hopper Made "New" by Surcal Operation

BY DAISY DEAN

Edna Wallace Hopper, the first wife of De Wolf Hopper and well known musical comedy favorite two decades ago, has just put the reverse English on the Rip Van Winkle act. A few weeks ago Miss Hopper, who admits she is 51 years old, went to bed for a real beauty sleep. She retired on a Tuesday and on Friday she woke up 20 years younger. In other words, Miss Hopper, looking all of forty or more, had her face made over by plastic surgery and now is wearing her new face which looks not a day over eighteen.

Twenty-five years ago Edna Wallace Hopper was starring in "Wang," "El Capitan," and twenty years ago she created the lead in 'Floradora." Not many who sat and were entertained by that vivacious bit of a girl can now boast of raven hair, smooth faces and bright eyes. Miss Hopper herself coyly admits that a year ago she looked like a grandmother, of course one of the new youthful grandmothers, but wrinkled and a bit faded just the same. For ten years she has been out of the public eye, having retired from the stage.

Edna Wallace Hopper was not old, however. In years perhaps she was not young, but in spirit she was still youthful. A surgical operation might make her look as young as she felt and with the hope that it would she submitted to the process of plastic surgery. Slits were made in her skin at either side of the head just a little above where the hair begins. The skin was then drawn taut, with every wrinkle out, the superfluous skin cut out and stitches taken. Another such incision was made behind the ears to draw up the neck lines. In this fashion her face was "lifted' and three days later the stitches were removed and Miss Hopper rose to gaze into the mirror and see Father Time cheated of twenty years.

"All women are young in spirit these days," says Miss Hopper, 'and it's a crime for them to stop their careers just because a few crows' feet gather. They do not know about this wonderful thing science has done and I am going to tell them."

Seven Guilty of Dishonesty at University

Faculty Discipline Body Sentences Students for Cheating

The faculty committee on Discipline, Prof. George Wagner, chairman, has taken the following actions since its last report in November.

A sophomore in the Chemistry course was found guilty of dishonesty in Chemistry 130. His actions subsequent to detection were exceedingly shifty. He had been reported to the committee year before last, but dismissed for lack of conclusive evidence. Last year he was again reported and convicted. He is therefor indefinitely suspended from the university.

A freshman in Letters and Science found guilty of dishonesty in Comparative Literature 7, must do five extra credits toward graduation, and his present probation is extended to the end of the year.

A freshman in Letters and Science found guilty of dishonesty in Geology 1, must do five extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the semester.

A junior in Letters and Science was found guilty of gross dishonesty in Chemistry 130. There was official information before the committee that he had been previously punished by suspension for a similar offense in another college. He is suspended indefinitely.

A girl, Letters and Science, found guilty of dishonesty in English 1a, must do five extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the semester.

A freshman in Journalism, found guilty of dishonesty in Zoology 1a, must do ten extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the semester.

Board Asks Regents to Cut Expenses of Student Dances

The standing committees for the Board of Visitors, University of Wisconsin, were appointed by Judge E. B. Beldon, chairman, at the last meeting of the board, November 12, and made public yesterday by Mrs. C. R. Carpenter, chairman of the publicity committee.

The board recommended to the Board of Regents, meeting at the present time, that a movement be started to lower the expenses incident to dances in order that more students might be able to take advantage of the social opportunities which the university offers.

The list of committees follows:

College of Letters and Science and School of Music—Morris, Bemis, Shrimski, Carpenter.

College of Engineering—Foster, Durand, Hesgard.

College of Agriculture—Hesgard, Titus, Foster.

Law School—Belden, Shrimski, Hambrecht.

New Glarus High School Beaten by Argyle Team

NEW GLARUS, Wis.—The New Glarus High school met its first defeat this season when they met the Argyle High school team at Argyle last Wednesday evening. The local cagers were on the short end of a 39 to 16 score. While the boys do not kick on a siege of hard luck it is inevitable that they were over sized by the Argyle team. Much credit is due the Argyle players for their snappy team and team work.

While this is the first game out of four that the local team has lost they are confident that the game here with Argyle will be one worth witnessing.

Those making the trip were Lee Hefty, Edwin Klassy, Elmer Figi, Rudy Lanacher, Molchoir Schiesser, Vernan Duerst, Wilbert Frick, Coach Starky and Nick K. Zwieful.

Before leaving the schoolhouse the students all sent them off with a number of yells and good wishes.

It is stated that the next game will undoubtedly be with Brodhead.

The Helvetia Milk Condensing team were defeated by Co. K of Monroe at Monroe Wednesday night, 43 to 9. The Helvetia team consists of Ed. Dietiker, Guy Alexander, Lack Reynolds, Tommy Schneider, Clarence Wendle, Chester Reynolds. Co. K team of Monroe is the same team that the Commercial Club team defeated here Thanksgiving afternoon.

Last week Friday evening, Miss Lena Engler was pleasantly surprised by the Woman's Relief Corp in honor of her approaching marriage. Many useful gifts were bestowed upon the bride-to-be.

Over a score of local young people were guests of Miss Dora Strieff at the home of her parents last Sunday evening in honor of her fifteenth birthday. Those present were Griselda Schmid, Kathryn Alexander, Dora Zentner, Bernice Legler, Erna Theiler, Varena Steussy, Edwin Klassy, Mirium Elliker, Dora Streiff, Ada Zwieful, Euphemia Zentmer, Mr. and Mrs. Wener Stauffacker, Rudy Langacher, Elmer Figi, Walter Trutiman, Lee Hefty, Printer Wendle, Chester Reynolds, Lester Reynolds and Wilber Frick. Lomax Tells How Cowboy Used Song

"Songs of whiskey, songs of their home, their mothers, their sweethearts, songs of heroes such as Sam Bass, Jesse James, and Cole Younger, songs of old world Ballads, of mix-ups with the law, and songs of the thought of death were some of the songs that the cowboy sang as he rode over the great wide western plains," said Professor Lomax of the University of Texas in an address given by the Forensic board at Bascom hall last night.

"These songs," he said, "were not written and published like the songs we sing, but were passed along from place to place by the cowboys as they led their cattle 'up the trail' to the prairies of Montana and the Dakotas."

During the address Professor Lomax sang several cowboy songs and the whole audience united in singing the chorus.

Professor Lomax was born in Mississippi, but in his youth his parents moved to the frontier of Texas where he was brought up and sent to school, and where he became acquainted with the cowboys, and learned their songs. He used some of them at Harvard, and they aroused such great interest that he began to make a collection of them.

Take Yeast Vitamon Tablets To Put On "Stay-There" Flesh

More "Pep" and "Punch"—Small Cost.

Thin or run-down folks will find this simple test well worth trying: Take Matin's VITAMON—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself each week and continue taking Mastin's VITAMON regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. Mastin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamines as well as the two other still more important vitamines (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C), all of which Science says you must have to be strong, well and fully developed. By increasing the nourishing power of what you eat Mastin's VITAMON Tablets supply just what your body needs to feed the shrunken tissues, strengthen internal organs, clear the skin and renew shattered nerve force without upsetting the stomach or causing gas. A two weeks' test will surprise you!

IMPORTANT! While the amazing health-building value of Mastin's VITAMON Tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anemia, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, they should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Be sure to remember the name—Mastin's VI-TA-MON. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists.

The Golden Girl

A STORY OF GYPSY LOVE

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

ILONA WAKES TO "HOME."

The next morning after her restoration to her own home, Ilona awoke with a start. She had been dreaming that she and Stella had been chasing the same gay butterfly. They were youngsters again, and barefooted. Just as she had reached out her hand to grasp the lovely creature Stella had pushed her roughly, causing her to fall down and cut her head on a sharp stone and she had then snatched the butterfly triumphantly in her two hands.

As she dreamed, Ilona stirred uneasily. Her childhood chum was cruel. Her eyes darted hatred at the vanquished one, as she lay crying on the ground. Rubbing her eyes still from the poignant realism of the dream, Ilona awoke startled and looked about her.

Her surroundings bewildered her at first. Where was she? What was the meaning of this silken splendor? She put out a hand to feel of the rose-colored covers. She stared incredulously at the embroidered sheets which covered her, then at the softly tinted walls and beautiful hangings. In a flash she remembered the events of the day before, and her sudden change to all this splendor. She got up and leaned on one elbow as she lived over again the events of the past twenty-four hours, and realized that she was "at home" in her rightful surroundings.

Following this realization came an acute longing for the old life, the awakening in her own tent, the early morning dip in the nearest brook, the splendid roughness of it all. She wanted her hard bed on the floor, her simple blanket as covering, the sound of the gypsies at their morning ablutions, the smell of the peat fires. That was life, not this!

Ilona choked down a sob as she lay thinking. She laughed to herself as she remembered that she had once longed to be surrounded by luxury. Now she was, and what were her true feelings? They were indescribable to say the least. For true morning happiness one must have the smell of the pines and the wide spaces in one's nostrils.

"Ilona," called a soft voice. "Ilona, dear child," and the wonderfully delicate new mother poked a smiling face into the room. Her negligee a marvel of lavenders and grays, a scent of all the most delicious flowers preceding her entrance. What a mother!

Instinctively, at the note of endearment in her mother's voice, Ilona stretched out her arms invitingly.

"Mother, dear," she called, "I was just trying to remember everything. Come and help your foolish Ilona. Come, mother mine, I'm like a lost sheep, somehow or other. And, oh, mother, I miss the smell of the fir fires so. Can't you understand?"

"My darling," said Mrs. Cameron, clasping her daughter to her, "forget them and look at the exquisite perfumes that I have chosen for you, look, darling. These are all for you. You must learn to love them, and us!"

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Trego Montgomery

When the cross bull rushed at the four friends and banged against the stone wall, Billy said, "There, there, my friend, don't exert yourself; you might overheat yourself."

Bang! came the bull's horns against the stone fence.

"Ha, ha, ha," laughed Billy, who had stopped to one side just as the bull crashed against the fence and backed off shaking his head with pain. "You had better not rival me in butting, for my head was made purposely for that while yours was not."

"Get off that fence!" bellowed the cross bull. "You, and all of your friends! I won't have you on my fence!"

"Oh, hear him, friends. 'His fence'—I like that. Did you hear him say 'his fence?' I never knew before that cattle own fences and land. I always thought it was the farmer that owned them, and that the cattle only lived off them at the farmer's pleasure. But I see I am learning something every day."

"Get off that fence or I'll hook you off," bellowed the bull.

"Come on and try it," bleated Billy, and the bull charged them again, but before he could raise his head to Billy's level, Billy had run along to another place.

All this time Stubby and Button were barking and mewing for the bull to come on, just to make him more furious than ever and to have some fun with him, while the Widow Brown stood on the ground and peeped over but did not venture on top of the fence.

Just at this time a party of children came out of a wood that bordered the pasture on the other side and climbed the fence intending to cross the field as it was a short cut to their home.

The bull on seeing this, and finding that he could not catch Billy, left him and turned to the children, hoping to be able to catch them and vent the spleen on them that he could not on Billy.

When Billy saw him turn and go roaring and bellowing across the field he was afraid for the safety of the children and he bleated his loudest for them to turn back, that the bull was after them. But they did not hear Billy's warning, or the bellowing of the bull until he was quite near them, as the wind blew the sounds the other way.

"Stubby, come, we must attract the attention of that bull or he will gore hose children to death. You snap and bark at his heels while I run ahead of him just far enough for him to think he is going to catch me, but I'll make him miss every time."

"Oh, Billy, don't,' pleaded the Widow Brown in a piteous voice. "He will surely kill you with his long horns or trample you to death. I know you are quick at dodging, but your foot might slip or a dozen other things happen, and then he would toss you up on his horns as you so often toss snarling dogs that bother you."

"My dear Mrs. Brown, danger or no danger, I must go to the rescue of those children."

A piercing scream rent the air, for the children had just become conscious that the bull was upon them. One child flew back toward the fence, but a little girl with a pink calico dress and the boy with her kept on straight ahead. The boy took the girl's hand and they began to run, but were so frightened that their little legs felt as though made of wood and as if each step would be their last.

(Tomorrow you will hear how Billy saved the children.)

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Before my baby was born my husband was very good to me. The first three years of our married life he had not been. At that time he stayed home every night, but every Saturday night would go out and drink.

After the baby was born he kept going out almost every night and would promise when the baby was older he would take me with him. The baby is five years old now and he goes out almost every evening and comes home as late as midnight and says he has just been walking around or to a picture show. But always he says he is too tired to stay out late when with us. I know at one time he went with bad women.

I keep a five-roomed house and do all my work and with the little girl it keeps me busy. But he says I am lazy. He makes $175 a month and gives me plenty of money for everything—$75 to $100 a month.

Now he says he wants a divorce, that he does not care for me or he would do better, although he says he does nothing wrong now. He calls me the most awful names every day and the little girl sometimes will repeat the names later and then I have to punish her and I don't feel that this is right.

He will not go with other married people, but almost always with single men. He will strike at me when angry and sometimes tries to spit on me. Yesterday he grabbed the shade off the electric lamp and tore it up. I don't believe much in divorce, but after nine years of married life things get worse.

My nerves are in a terrible state and the doctor says he cannot help me unless I have perfect peace. My husband says it is either put on or that I am crazy and should be in an insane hospital. I have heard him tell another person he did not treat me right, but that he would not let any one else do it. That gave me new hope and I have tried harder, but he is getting worse and will sometimes say the baby is not his. She could not look more like him. Please advise me.

A mother is usually so helpless when her married life is unhappy because she has no escape. It is necessary for her to remain with her husband in order to have support for herself and child. It is my belief that when one party of the marriage no longer loves and wants freedom, the other should permit a divorce if possible. In case your husband is willing to supply you with sufficient alimony, I believe you should give him his freedom. The life you lead now keeps you miserable all the time. After your divorce you will be lonely, but you will not be mistreated. Perhaps when your husband sees that you are willing to comply with his request he will be less eager for you to do so and will try harder to be good to you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and am only in the eighth grade. Do you think I am too old to go to high school next year?

What would be a good way to curl the hair to keep it from breaking off?

MISTLETOE.

You are not too old to enter high school next year. Do so by all means or you will regret it bitterly as long as you live.

Do not curl the hair with a hot iron. Use hair curlers.

TESTED RECIPES

Twelve O'Clock Pie—Cut one pound stew beef in pieces, sprinkle with flour, and cook until brown in salt pork or beef fat. Add one-half cup diced carrots, one sliced onion, 1 stalk celery cut in pieces, bit of bay leaf, four cloves, one cup tomatoes, boiling water to cover, and cook until meat is tender. Add salt and pepper to taste and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Wash six large potatoes, cook until soft in salted water. Cut four of these potatoes into dice and add to the meat. Mash the other potatoes, add one tablespoon oleomargarine, one-half cup flour, one teaspoon of baking powder and enough scalded milk to put mixture through pastry tube, and mix thoroughly. Mix two tablespoons flour with a little cold water, add to meat, and pour into baking dish. Force mashed potato mixture on top of meat using pastry bag and tube. Bake in a hot oven. Strips of green pepper may be added to the meat if desired.

Orange Walnut Jelly—Four tablespoons granulated tapioca, one and one-half cups hot water, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup orange juice, two tablespoons lemon juice, one cup walnut meats.

Cook the tapioca, hot water, the salt and sugar until tapioca is clear and transparent—approximately forty-five minutes in the double boiler. Add the orange juice and lemon juice and cool slightly. Add nut meats, broken in pieces, chill and serve with cream or milk.

SUGGESTIONS.

If you live in locality where the water is very hard, ferns do much better if you save rain water and use it for watering them instead of the hard water. In the winter use melted snow, warmed just a little.

To save the time required for blacking a stovepipe wipe the range off daily with soft newspaper. The grease spattered from recipes cooked on top burners is sufficient to keep the stove black and in good condition if rubbed thus all over the stove.

A shoe dealer says nothing is more satisfactory to clean white kid shoes than a common rubber eraser. "Art" rubber is even better. It will also clean gloves, both white and colored.

The correct shampoo for auburn hair is to procure five cents' worth of salts of tartar at the druggist's and dilute it in a pint of water, preferably lukewarm. Rub it in your hair until a lather covers your head. If convenient wait about half an hour and then rinse in several waters. This is a cleansing wash and tends to bring out any auburn lights that may be in your hair.

Never put warm food or warm dishes into the ice box.

It is economy in the long run to keep the ice compartment of ice box well filled.

Willie Hoppe, Former Champion of 18.2 Balkline In Wonderful Performance Here

Hoppe Perfect As Balls Click For 274 Tally

Champion 14.2 and 18.1 Plays Normal Game at Abaly's Here

NEW YORK—Jacob Shaefer, who recently won the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship from Willie Hoppe, on Tuesday formally accepted the former champion's challenge for a return match. The new champion posted $250 behind the match and named Chicago as the place where it should be held.

William F. Hoppe is without a doubt the greatest personage in the billiard world today, despite his defeat a couple of weeks ago at the hands of Jake Schaefer in the international tournament in Chicago. Hoppe appeared in Madison yesterday, through the efforts of John H. Abaly, progressive business man and a live sport, and gave the fans one of the prettiest exhibitions of his skill that they may ever hope to see.

Hoppe was at his best in his afternoon performance, running the 300 points of 18.2 in two innings, giving him an average of 150. And not only that! but he would have undoubtedly run out in one inning with an average of 300 had his cue slipped and dropped on the ball while he was getting into position for a masse shot to make the 275th count. At that point he needed only 26 and the balls were in position. He was superb in his execution of the shots.

Truly, he must be considered the world's greatest master of the ivory cubes. His opponent was Charles C. Petersen of St. Louis, premier fancy shot expert of the world. Peterson won the break but counted only one. Hoppe brought the ivories together in two shots and thereafter had everything his own way. One of the remarkable things about his game—and to show what a master of the game he is—he counted 195 on one end of the table in a space which could have been covered by a gunny sack.

At 195 the balls spread and he played to the opposite end but soon he came back and went perfectly until his cue slipped. Peterson [illegible] in his second inning. Hoppe made the required 300 with a run of [illegible] in his second.

Last night Hoppe won the break but failed to count. Peterson ran 22. Hoppe made 125 and then in his third inning ran out with 175. The scores:

Afternoon—
Peterson—1—98.
Hoppe—274—26.
Hoppe's average—150.
Evening—
Hoppe—0—125—175.
Peterson—22—19.
Hoppe's average—100.

Middle Western Circuit Helped by Football Meetings

With most of the colleges of four states who have been mentioned as prospects for a berth in the embryo mid-west athletic conference meeting for the first time on the gridiron, or renewing old-time athletic negotiations, much has been accomplished this fall in the establishment of harmonious relations between the foremost colleges of the upper Mississippi valley and the ultimate formation of such a circuit.

While the conference is a long way from formal establishment, it is thought that a meeting of the representatives from Hamline, Carleton, Lawrence, Beloit, Knox, Cornell and Coe which will convene in Chicago during the Christmas holidays, may accomplish much in clearing away some of the difficulties that obstruct the erection of the conference.

It will be remembered that a conference was seriously discussed at a meeting in Chicago at the same time last year. This meeting resulted in an inter-state track meet on Coe field last spring.

Conflicting eligibility and residence rules of the different colleges [illegible], and the distance for competing teams to travel, are [illegible] obstacles which must be [illegible] before any actual formation can be accomplished, authorities say.

[illegible] between several of [illegible] on the gridiron was [illegible] this fall by games between [illegible] the representatives. Beloit, Knox, and Carleton battled themselves while Coe played [illegible], and engages Cornell to-[illegible]. Hamline also played Cornell [illegible] Mount Vernon early in the [illegible]. With a game scheduled [illegible] Lawrence and Beloit to be [illegible], the circuit is complete and relations established between most of the prospective conference members.

ROUNDY'S CORNER

BY ROUNDY

Willie Hoppe gave a great exhibition last night at Abaly's recreation parlors going out in two innings with runs of 125, and 175. He stated to me that he will play Schaefer for the title in April at the Congress hotel, Chicago, and there will be a bet of $10,000 on the side.

* * *

Abaly sure has a world of praise coming for bringing these high class players here. The hall was packed and Peterson, the other player, gave a nice long talk on how to play the game and demonstrated different strokes to the crowd.

* * *

Hoppe told me if Schaefer beats him again that the title is in a great player's hands. After Schaefer beat him then they had to play off the next night for the world's title. The youngster just walked up to that table on his turn to shoot as if he was eating his supper and the kid's nerve kind of upset him and made his playing below standard style and he went down to defeat.

* * *

Stagg of Chicago is strong for a crew to be put in the water for Chicago. Who ever thought that a man of Stagg's years would fall for the shell game.

* * *

A traveling man stopped Barney Flynn on the street and said" "which is the fastest car to take to get to the depot?" Barney says, there is only way to get there faster than the car and that is to walk.

* * *

I have always wondered why they called Bob Moha the cave man. When I was in Milwaukee last week I found out why. I saw him eat.

* * *

Richard claims that he saw Center college play and that he thinks all teams in the conference could beat them. Which is a great knock against Center college. That means Northwestern and Indiana and Purdue could beat them.

* * *

I saw the Wisconsin basketball team in most of their secret practices. Coach Meanwell has three football men on the squad and as they have reported late the team will be a little late in showing what they can do and a few early close games will be no surprise to the coach.

* * *

The conference this year is real strong and to win that flag it will take a great team. We got a few early upsets last year but after that the Meanwell system swung into action and we tied for first place.

* * *

Meanwell doesn't think there is such a place as second place. He says first place is the only one that counts with him. If most football coaches would use his system in training a football team and get the results out of men as he can out of them on a basket ball floor then that system would sweep the football conference each year to the man that tries it.

* * *

There is Williams. Meanwell brings all the fine points out of that fellow on that basket ball floor. He was just a crude player on the start of last season and at the finish he was the best in the whole west.

* * *

There is a report that Holmes will not return to Wisconsin next fall. He was ineligible this year for football. He is about the classiest back that Wisconsin will ever see in action. About next November Stagg, and Zuppke and Yost wish that he never came back.

* * *

Coach Williams will be coach at Minnesota again next fall after all the trouble over him this year. It was proven last week he was only fired two times. The week before he lost his job twelve times.

Great Track Record by South African Lad

South Africa has developed another schoolboy athlete in L. B. B. Betts, whose performance early last month at the Jeppe high school meets, and school contests suggest that he may better the records of Reggie E. Walker and B. G. D. Rudd, both of whom are credited with exceptional performances as schoolboys. Betts, a lithe and clean limbed youth of 17 won the 100, 440 and 880 yards at Jeppe school. In the quarter he won his preliminary in 50 7-8 seconds, while in the final on the following day he covered the distance in 50 seconds, and won the 100 yards in 10 seconds. The half-mile was the next event and without retiring to the pavilion he went on to his mark and won from L. Phillips of Krugersdrop by 25 yards, who put up a record last year of 2 minutes 6 seconds.

De Beau Will Be at His Best For Wallace

Blond St. Paul Battler Preparing Hard for Go Here

Since Eddie DeBeau, the St. Paul bristling blond, who meets Otto Wallace at Turner hall here next Monday evening, last fought here, he has beaten several good boys. Among his victims after the Boehme fight at Monona Park, are Jackie Sanders of Elizabeth, N. J., who he beat in 10 rounds, and the star lightweight from Cadilac, Mich., Al Wolgast, a brother of former champion Ad Wolgast, who he beat in a 10 round fight at Duluth, Minn.

De Beau then sprained his hand and was forced to cancel his bout with Wallace, which was to be held at Turner hall last October, and then Eddie was ordered to do no training for another three weeks by his doctor. But, last Friday at Sioux Falls, DeBeau and Johnny Noye fought 10 fast rounds. Opinion as to the winner differed and many ringsiders and writers called it a good draw. Eddie DeBeau, however, expects to be in the best condition of his career for the Wallace fight and although he knows Wallace is one of the best lightweights in the game he expects to come out "on top."

In addition to the windup scrap there will be three preliminaries, featuring local talent. It bids fair to be the best mit card which ever has been attempted in Madison.

Kid Burns will take on Babe Schutz, both now making their homes in Madison. Schutz is a new one in these parts but guarantees to deliver the goods. They will meet at 144 pounds and go six rounds or less. "Milky" Buchanan will take on Jim Sheldon at 140 pounds in another of the preliminaries. The third will be between Young Harbord and Andy Hickey, who will mix at 182 pounds for six rounds.

Four Teams Stay In Soccer Compet; Games Announced

Four teams remain in the race for the soccer championship. They are the Skull and Cross Bones, Horse Shoes, Red Diamonds, and Black Circles.

These four teams will play off their remaining games this week. The Skull and Cross Bones will play the Horse Shoes on Wednesday at 4:30, and the Red Diamonds will meet the Black Circles at the same hour on Thursday. Both these games are in the semi-final series. The winners of these two games will compete in the final game on Saturday at 2:30.

The line-ups of the four remaining teams have been announced. Skull and Cross Bones has Banner, captain, Swift, Baldwin, Harrington, Perry, Willard, Aberg, Bruske, Hindes, Giles, Donavan, and Isaacson.

The men who compose the Horse Shoes team are as follows: Matteson, captain, Peterson, Sather, Thompson, Viste, Shuman, Klos, Pfeifer, Schaekel, Gleason, Clemens, Steddom, and Von Der Merve.

The personnel of the Red Diamond team is: Shimansky, captain, Marx, Hitchie, Forbes, Sinclair, Boeckh, Rieck, Handberk, Franks, Coat, Cutts, and Mautz.

The Black Circle outfit is composed of these men: Houghton, captain, Bertolet, Verbrick, Crosby, Ross, Bond, Brusewitz, Noer, .. D. Jones, and J. Smith.

The captains of these four teams are instructed to see that every man on their teams is present at the matches scheduled for this week.

The results of the games played last week are as follows: Skull and Cross Bones 2, Spades 0; Horse Shoes 2, Red Wings 0; Red Diamonds 2, Crescents 0; Black Circles 1, Red Dominoes 0.

Pilgrims Defeat High Team of DeForest

The Pilgrim C. E. five defeated the fast De Forest high school team by a score of 16 to 9 in the Pilgrim gym. The score stood 8 to 2 for Pilgrims, De Forest getting their two points by the free throw route at the end of the half.

Field goals—Olson 4, Kendall 3, Gallagher 1, Holser 2, Gray 1.

BASKET GAME AT BEST IN WEST; EVANS FROWNS ON FOUL SYSTEM

Preparations are going forward in all parts of the country for what promises to be one of the greatest basketball seasons since the beginning of the game. Especially is this true in respect to the West and Midwest.

In a recent article, Billy Evans, noted sport writer, made the statement that basketball, due to the large number of fouls called, was not as popular a game as it might be. He backed up his statement by citing the case of Penn winning the eastern chaimpionship when it had actually been outscored in four games.

However much this may be true in the East, it is hardly applicable here. The game is gaining popularity at a tremendous rate and in many cases is rivalling football in the amount of interest shown. The Big Ten conference proves it. Basketball is the major sport at Indiana, and larger crowds are in attendance at the games there than at the gridiron contests.

It is true that in the East the game is handled in an inefficient manner. Non-basketball men are in charge of the game there. A second reason for lack of eastern interest is the limited space in gymnasiums. They were, in a majority of cases, built a great many years ago when the great crowds of today were unthought of. The old Harvard gym, for instance, accommodates only 600 persons.

Evans was right when he stated that there is "too much whistle" in the East. Officials there make it an "old ladies' game," the whistle being blown so much that a good display of teamwork is impossible. In a regular game, such as may be seen here at Wisconsin, there is never seen any such stalling and slowing up of play as was seen done by the Illinois and Michigan football teams this fall.

Basketball is certainly at its best in the West. The only thing that is possibly hindering the popularity of the game is the lack of facilities to handle the crowds. The new Patten gym at Northwestern accommodates 4,500 people, and is always sold out days ahead of a game, despite the fact that the Purple are not ordinarily a winning team. Chicago and Illinois, who can accommodate 3,300 and 5,500 spectators, respectively, also find their seating space sadly inadequate. At Wisconsin, the seating capacity is limited to 2,500.

Badgers vs. Centre College For 1922! Coach Richards Favors Plan at Conference

Any Big Ten Team Could Whip the Praying Colonels, Says Wisconsin Mentor; Pyre Would Not Favor Game

Wisconsin to meet Centre college on the Camp Randall gridiron, Oct. 13, 1922. How would that strike you? It will probably never come off, but when the Wisconsin athletic heads were discussing the schedule after finishing their work at Chicago Saturday and expressing the wish that they might find an opponent for this date, capable of giving the Badgers a stiff test, the suggestion was made "Why not, Centre college?"

Coach Richards came back with a flash, "Why not, I'm willing. I've seen them and they'd be all right. Moreover, they would not give us too much trouble. What do you say Tom?" Director Jones hesitated and turned a questioning eye on Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, chairman of the athletic council. "I cannot say what the vote of the other members of the council would be," said Prof. Pyre, "but my own vote would, I think, be against it," which is probably enough to indicate that it will not be scheduled. It is understood that all the conference faculty representatives look with disfavor on the Centre college aggregation.

The possibilities of a Wisconsin-Centre college game are interesting enough, however, to justify relating the incident, the outstanding feature of which was the promptness with which Coach Richards snapped up the suggestion. He was a spectator at the game played in Dallas, Tex., last Christmas day, in which Centre and a small Texas college eleven were opposed and while referring in terms of praise of many individuals on the Centre eleven, did not hesitate to say that any of the better Big Ten teams would, in his opinion, defeat the "praying colonels."

Cage Schedule For M.H.S. is Near Complete

Open Season With Tilt With Alumni Friday Night Here

The Madison High School quintet will open the bag Friday night when they stack up their strength against the fast Alumni team. Although the team is not yet picked, Coach Otto J. Endres announces he will have plenty of material to pit against the former students. It is most likely he will start Walsb Tallard, Smith, Wheeler, and Glasier, although changes may be made.

The high five will play a preliminary game with the Vocational basketeers before Endres sends his warriers against the Alumni. The schedule has been completed outside of two dates that still remain open for opponents. It follows:

Dec. 9—Alumni at Madison.
Dec. 21—Edgerton at Edgerton.
Jan. 6—Edgerton at Madison
Jan. 13—Beloit at Beloit.
Jan. 20—Richland Center here.
Jan. 27—La Crosse at La Crosse.
Feb. 3—Richland Center at Richland Center.
Feb. 10—Beloit at Madison.
Feb. 17—La Crosse at Madison.
Feb. 24—Open Date.
Mar. 3—Open Date.
Mar. 10—Janesville at Madison.
Mar. 17— District Tournament at Whitewater.

Greek Teams Run in Meet on Saturday

Fraternity Men to Race for Prize Cups at University

With 15 teams entered in the annual inter-fraternity track and field meet to be held Saturday, Dec. 10, at 2 p. m. in the gym annex, there promises to be much interesting competition for the four cups which have been offered as prizes.

The fraternities which will compete are: Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Nu, Theta Delta Chi, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Pi, Chi Psi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Theta Xi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi, and Lambda Chi Alpha.

All students members of the fraternities are eligible to compete, and many "W" men will perform in the events Saturday. The annex bleachers will be erected for the meet, the first occasion on which they have been brought out this year. Spectators will also be provided with programs.

Four cups will be awarded to the winning teams in the meet, three for first, second, and third places respectively, and one to the winner of the relay. They may be seen in Coach Burke's office. Ribbons will also be awarded to the individual place takers in the various events.

The meet is being managed this year by George Stolley '22 for the inter-fraternity council. All entry sheets and fees should be turned over to him at Coach Burke's office.

In preparation for the meet, the teams have been working out in the annex every afternoon and will continue to do so this week.

Officials Appointed

The officials have been appointed as follows: Referee and starter, Mead Burke; clerk of course, Burt White; clerk of track events, Edwin Burke; clerk of field events, Enos Jones; judges of finish, Professor Taylor, Professor Miller, and Dr. Elsom; timers, Coach Vail Nightingale, Frank Nickerson; scorer, Charles Jensch; announcers, Wells Anderson, Sterling Anderson; judges of weights, Guy Sundt, Hans Gude, H. Jarvis, F. Stegeman; judges of jumps, Leo McClure, Peter Platten, Joseph Holbrook, John Holzberg; inspectors, Mark Wall, George Finkle, Carl Rossmiessel; manager of the meet, George Stolley.

McGraw Trades Two Giants for Heinie Groh

NEW YORK—Manager McGraw of the Giants has traded Outfielder George Burns and Catcher Mike Gonzales for Third Baseman Heinie Groh of Cincinnati, Secretary Joseph O'Brien of the New York club announced Tuesday night. Groh was suspended by Commissioner Landis last year upon his refusal to play with the Cincinnati team. He had openly expressed his desire to be sold to New York. He was later reinstated on condition that he would not be traded or sold during the 1921 playing season. Groh then rejoined the Cincinnati club and finished the season with it.

Maroons Take Game With Georgia Tech

CHICAGO—The University of Georgia was placed on Chicago's football schedule for a game here Oct. 7. This completes the Maroon's gridiron program for next year and gives Chicago two intersectional games on the home field—Princeton and Georgia. Georgia lost to Harvard, 10 to 7, this year.

LEACH CROSS IS DEFYING REAPER

Leach Cross, taken when he was in his prime.

The other night veteran fight fans in New York pinched themselves to be sure they were awake when they saw someone who looked much like Leach Cross climb into the ring to fight Frankie Maxwell. It was Leach Cross. And he celebrated the start of his fifteenth year in the game by outpointing Maxwell. While Leach has no championship aspirations, he is giving the public some thrills in his comeback.

Frosh Battle For Near Tie with Varsity

Hold Open Practice On Thursday; Ags Here Saturday

The Varsity basketball squad worked out in a most satisfactory manner yesterday afternoon against the freshman team in the second open practice of the week.

While no official score was kept, the frosh put up a good game and kept Meanwell's men to a narrow margin. The scrimmage was continued for over an hour, and was one of the stiffest workouts given the team this year.

On Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, another open practice will be held. Doctor Meanwell feels that one of the most pressing needs of the team at the present time is to become accustomed to playing in the presence of a crowd. He, accordingly, arranged three practices this week to which the public was invited.

Want More at Practice

Due to insufficient publicity, the attendance at the first two of the open practices was limited, and their purpose was not accomplished. It is hoped that several hundred people will witness the practice on Thursday, as it will be the last big workout for the team before they go into the Michigan Aggie game on Saturday.

The performance of the team is improving with each practice, and Doctor Meanwell should be able to send a fairly smoothly working machine into the game on Saturday. It is now possible to forecast what the lineup for the opening game will be. The three veterans, Ceaser, Taylor, and Williams, have their positions cinched and are already traveling at a good pace. Gibson is fitting into the play rapidly, and he will undoubtedly be given his initial test in this week's game. Tebell does not seem to have any dangerous competitors for the back guard job, and will probably be stationed there, at least in the opening tilt.

No Dope on Aggies

There is little advanced dope as to the strength of the Aggies this year. They are always a strong aggregation, however, and there is no question but that they will offer the Badgers as strong opposition as will any team on the preliminary schedule.

With the exception of Taylor, the Badgers do not give indications of being particularly good shots. Taylor was one of the highest scorers in the conference a year ago, and his eye appears to be even more accurate this season. Ceaser's shooting is improving, but Duke's long suite has always been his consistent teamplay. Much of the success of the team will depend on the manner in which the new center performs on the offense. Gibson seems to have a fairly good eye at short range, which is a good qualification for a center.

Peden Ruled Out of 1922 Football

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Don Peden, captain-elect of the Illinois 1922 football team is ineligible for conference football next year by a decision of the conference faculty board which met at Chicago last week, it became known here when steps were taken to elect a new captain. Peden was declared ineligible because he had played one year with Lombard college while taking high school subjects, it was reported. He has played two years here. A conference ruling allows a player to play an extra year on a college team if he is a member of the academy at the time, but as Lombard maintains no academy, the board held the rule did not apply, it was said.

Final Orders Taken For Rings Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be the last chance for seniors to order Blue Dragon rings. The salesman will be in Lathrop hall from 9 o'clock until 12 and from 1 o'clock until 4:30 to receive orders for rings at prices of $8.40 or $10. Rings ordered later will be $14 and $15.

"Blue Dragon rings are a Wisconsin tradition and we want all the seniors to keep it up. The sale has been going very well so far, but we want all those who have not taken advantage of the opportunity to try to do so immediately," said Louise Fritsche '22, who has charge of the sale.

News of the Markets

Report for December 7

Wheat Prices Drop During Early Trade

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—New weakness developed in the wheat market today during early dealings. A leading bearish factor was the report of a big bank failure in South Germany. On downturns however, commission houses took to the buying side. Opening quotations which ranged from 3.8 cents decline to 1.8 cents advance with May 1.12 @ 3.8 and July 1.01¾ @ ⅛ were followed by a moderate general setback and then something of a rally.

Later, the weakness became more pronounced as a result of lower premiums here for red winter grades. Word of some export business at the Gulf of Mexico failed to act as an offset. The close was unsettled 1c to 1⅜ net lower, with May 1.11⅛ to 1.11¼ and July 1.01 to 1.01¼.

CORN—Corn and ots were easy with wheat, after opening ¼ cent off to ⅛ up, May 533⅛ to 53¼, the corn market sagged a little all around.

Subsequently, export demand helped to sustain the market, prices closed steady ¼ @ ⅜ cents net lower to 1.8 advance with May 53¼ and July 54½.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ⅛ higher, May 37¾ to 37⅞, and later showed but slight change.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were dull, but firmer in line with hogs.

Bull Pools in Stock Market Cause Boost

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Selected issues again were brought forward by bull pools at the opening of today's stock market. Famous Players, common and preferred, American Woolen, American Car and Lima Locomotive rose 1 to 2½ points. The recent buying movement in motors and rubber specialties made further progress. Among the more substantial shares, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western strengthened.

The British exchange rate held all of yesterday's gain, but French, Italian and German quotations were weaker.

Weakness of St. Paul issues affected other rails later and the jump of call money to 5½ percent precipitated liquidation elsewhere especially among equipments, oils and motors. The closing was heavy. Government issues and most other bonds reflected further realizing sales.

Industrial Worker Has Slim Chance to See 70

NEW YORK—The metropolitan industrial worker has one chance in eight of heaching 70 years of age, and the farmer one chance in three.

This report was made on Tuesday by the building trades committee of the United Hospital fund, which asserted that deaths in industrial centers were greatly increasing because of the breakdown of hearts, arteries, kidneys and digestive systems in middle life.

Offer Course in Humanities At University

Students May Elect Solely Cultural Courses Under New Plan

A course in humanities leading to the degree of bachelor of arts has been instituted at the University of Wisconsin. The course is for the benefit of students who may desire to devote a considerable part of their college work to non-professional, purely cultural development, either for its own sake, or as a general preparation for specialized study.

A convocation to be held January 15 is being planned by the committee in charge of the course for the purpose of explaining it to the students. Prof. Carl Russell Fish, chairman of the committee, will preside. Sterling Tracy '22, will be one of the speakers.

The course offers substantial introduction to the four great fields of learning: language and literature, history, science, philosophy and mathematics. Elections in the course are open to students now in the university as well as to incoming students. Those enrolled in the course may take no electives from professional courses, except those required for the teachers certificates.

"The majority of the faculty considers it the best way a student can spend four college years, if he does not have to make any provision for making a living after leaving school," said Professor Fish yesterday.

"Learning Through Doing" is Successful Motto of Special Schools Conducted in City

Exhibit During Education Week Proves Success of Experiment; Practical Work Cancels Truant Problem

"Learning through doing."

This is the successful motto of the special schools being conducted in Madison. These special departments aim to give a little help where needed and their success is demonstrated by the exhibit during the present Education Week, in the windows of Wolff, Kubly & Hirsig of the well constructed chairs, red and fibre furniture, aprons, lamps, hall racks, woven carpets, clothing and other useful articles for the home.

Out in the old Longfellow school two rooms are given to the subject where Miss H. A. Burns, supervisor, has charge and headquarters. Miss Burns has two assistants at the Longfellow building, Miss Helen Hartmeyer and Mrs. E. F. Gunn, Jr. At the Hawthorne school on the east side, the work is in charge of Miss E. Fleming and the room of the Marquette building is managed by Miss Mary A. Calvert.

Academic work is taken in conjunction with the practical. Language is taught through the names of tools, their use and history; the same course is taken with the materials used, the final use and history of the object being constructed, which awakens in the pupil a quicker reaction not generally possible in the routine work of the classroom.

To stop and view the work being done by these young educators in the local schools is to view the newer methods of education never dreamed of in the red schoolhouse days as being connected with development of children along lines that they are able to do best. There are no truants from the special schools. This problem has never presented itself, because the boys and girls are too interested in their daily projects to stay away.

Some of the boys and girls are discovered to be experts in trades or professions that would do credit to their seniors. At the Longfellow school a pleasant faced little colored chap is on the profitable road to being an inside finisher, or a cabinet maker. He reads plans and blueprints like a seasoned contractor, goes about his work in orderly manner, and produces what he started in expert fashion. A young lady is the efficiency expert and advisor in her hitherto not attractive home. After a few months training in the school she has so changed living conditions that an investigator for the Associated Charities making her first winter rounds thought that she was in the wrong house. The inside was clean and well ventilated, the scanty furniture was scrubbed and repaired, wallpaper had been used on all the downstairs rooms, the other children were neat and happy, and an immensely improved home was found where the new knowledge had taken root.

Salvation Army Drive Postponed in County

In a statement in regard to the meeting of the advisory board of the Salvation Army last night, Judge Hoppmann said:

"The Dane county Salvation Army advisory board last evening decided to discontinue the drive at the present time. It is a well known fact that the work of the Salvation Army has endeared itself in the hearts of the people of the city of Madison and of Dane county, and the citizens are not only willing but very anxious to do their share towards assisting the Salvation Army in its very worthy work in Madison, and especially to contributing towards and completing and sustaining the Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital which the Salvation Army has erected for Wisconsin at Milwaukee, but because of the numerous drives which have been made in this county within the last two months, some of which are still pending, it was found that the citizens do not feel that they can do full justice to the Salvation Army at this time, and it was, therefore, deemed advisable to postpone the drive for the present, and to take it up again during the fore part of the year when the citizens would have recovered from the recent drives and would feel that they could do justice to the Salvation Army drive.

Plans are considered towards strengthening the work of the Salvation Army in this city and co-ordinating its work with the other social agencies in this city.

Prom Speakers to Address Men Groups

In an effort to make the 1923 Prom a representative affair the committee on men's arrangements has outlined a program of speakers to talk to non-fraternity groups and organizations in order to aid them in making Prom preparations. The committee will meet today at 4 o'clock in the Green room of the Y. M. C. A.

"The men's arrangements committee is organized solely to help persons who will not attend prom with any of the social organizations in making plans and arrangements. The committee is able to furnish information about any of the Prom activities and will be glad to co-operate with those who will call on us," said Dan O'Neil '23, chairman of the committee. O'Neil may be reached at Fairchild 1275.

The committee will have men speak this week to various groups in order to interest them in Prom and to offer their services.

Shrubbery Will Keep Roads Open in Winter

The most effective way of keeping the roads open during the winter months is to plant shrubbery far enough back in the fields so that the snow will not be thrown into cuts, A. R. Hirst, state chief highway engineer, believes. He said that snow fences as a means of locating snow drifts were almost as effective as shrubbery. Tree planting along highways was approved by the Wisconsin chief engineer in his discussion before the national association of state highway engineers at Omaha, Neb.

T. R.'S SON HEADS COMMITTEE ARRANGING NAVY REDUCTIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and one of the advisers to the American arms delegation, has been made chairman of the naval technical committee, composed of one naval expert from Great Britain, Japan, Italy, France and the United States, which will arrange details of plans for reducing the naval strength of the powers represented at the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt were snapped as they left the Pan-American building, where arms conference sessions are being held. It is one of the few pictures ever taken of the couple together.

Plan Radical Changes At School Meet

Conference Tomorrow Asked to Endorse Junior College Plan

The conference of state educational boards which meets tomorrow will be asked to take a definite stand on questions of policy with regard to teacher training, college courses in normal schools, and junior colleges.

Proposal will be made that a committee on high school training problems, including certification, to consist of two members each of the state board of university regents, the normal regents, state board of vocational education, and the superintendent of public instruction, be appointed to study the problems developed at the conference and report to the one-day meeting of the boards to be held in May.

It is to be suggested that the boards make known their position on teacher training at normal schools and the university. One resolution will call for training of teachers of classical and modern foreign languages solely at the university, and another would provide that no high school teacher shall receive a life teaching certificate until she has had academic training equivalent to four years beyond high school.

Another resolution will state that "we indorse the junior college idea and look forward to the organization of junior colleges in this state at the earliest possible moment."

It is to be proposed that a conference committee of two members from each of the boards be directed to study the questions of organization of junior colleges and report back to a conference meeting, the results of their study.

"It is expected that the conference of educational boards will result in some definite agreements on some points in the problems considered at the conference," Mr. E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, says.

Milwaukee Doctors in a Row On Lorenz

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Girding themselves for what promises to be one of the most hotly fought controversies Milwaukee's professional world has ever witnessed, physicians are awaiting the meeting of the Milwaukee County Medical society to voice their opinions in regard to the proposed visit of Dr. Adolf Dorenz, Viennese surgeon.

It is is reported that several members have hinted that a split may result in the society and that members have been intimidated into signing statements to the press on the question.

Dr. H. M. Brown, who is scheduled to speak on the medical situation in Europe, said Tuesday night that "better work is being done right here in Milwaukee than Dr. Lorenz or any foreign physician ever thought of doing. Milwaukee physicians are more charitable than any," he contended.

Hearing On Carlson Delayed; 15 Ask Pardon

Hearing on the application of Carl O. Carlson, Kenosha, serving a life sentence for conviction on charge of complicity in the murder of Patrolman Antonio Pingitore of Kenosha, was postponed today by Gov. Blaine on request of Carlson's attorney. The request for executive clemency will be held up pending review of the case by the Supreme court. A writ of habeas corpus issued by the court calls for appearance of the prisoner on December 16 to have his case considered.

Alfred Wehrley, Marathon county serving 25 years for murder, is among the 15 other prisoners asking to be freed. The other applications including seven from Milwaukee county come from inmates servini gterms on conviction for less serious offenses.

Chippewa Falls Park is Sold Under Hammer

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—Wissota amusement park, one of the best known summer amusement resorts in this section of the state, was sold by the sheriff to Judge J. E. Pannier to satisfy liens against the property by creditors for $6,500. The stockholders will lose their investment of $18,000 as the property was bid in for those holding the liens.

MONOLOGUE IS PURNELL'S ACT

BILL PURNELL '22

"99% Nerve and 1% Talent" is the way Purnell styles the monologue and character song act which he intends to offer in Union Vodvil this week-end. Willard Sumner '23, director of the orchestra, will furnish the accompaniment.

Stoughton Department

C. J. ROLLIS, Editor

Office First Floor 107 East Main Street. Telephone 664 W.

STOUGHTON—Officers elected at the session of Social lodge No. 60, I. O. O. F., Monday evening, were noble grand, William Borgen; vice grand, Lew McComb; recording secretary, Clarence Rowe; financial secretary, Paul Kihle; treasurer, A. A. Lind; trustee 3 years, C. A. Brooks. Owing to the depressed financial condition, the Odd fellows have not been as prosperous this year as formerly.

The session of the council Monday night was devoted to the question as to how they may escape levying a tax sufficient to meet the indebtedness and also provide means with which to run the city for another year. Those in sympathy with the workingman of the city, would rather borrow from the banks than have them stand a chance of the home being sold for taxes and the finance committee was instructed to gain information with relation to the amount that could be obtained in that way. The city started out a year ago with more than a $18,000 deficit and the former city depository, the Stoughton State band, refused to continue the loan. The two other banks were made depositories of the city money. The general fund now owes $40,000 of borrowed money, for which taxes should have been levied according to law. How the present council can escape the situation is puzzling. Said one of the heaviest taxpayers yesterday, "The obligation must be met sooner or later; the city must pay its debts."

An adjournment was taken till Thursday night for the finance committee to report how much local banks are willing to loan to meet the city's obligations. At that time Chief Heil of Madison will discuss the subject of a new fire truck for the city. He has been invited to be present. The old fire truck operated off and on a number of years, not enough to interfere with its usefulness, is said not to be up to date. Alfred Peterson, son of the mayor, is paid $50 a month to care for the present truck and the money comes from the firemen's pension fund. The usual bills were allowed Monday night.

An allowance was made for the public library of $3,400 and the vocational school was given $3,500, about a third of what was asked last year.

Attend Implement Convention.

H. H. Emery and Ed. H. Johnson of the farm implement firm of Emery & Johnson, went to Milwaukee yesterday for attendance upon a convention of farm implement dealers.

The union services in the Lutheran churches which are to be conducted by Rev. Orlanda Ingvoldstead of Chicago, opened in the East Side church last evening at 7:45.

Happy Hour Club.

The Happy Hour club will be entertained for dinner Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Huffman of Rutland, among those who started the club years ago.

The Three Links club of the Rebekah lodge will be entertained Friday afternoon in the lodge hall by Mrs. John Mickelson, Mrs. Frank Townsend, Mrs. Charles Brooks and Misses Nora Anderson and Pearl Nelson.

Norman Dalsoren of Rutland and Miss Eleanore Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Johnson, were married in Rockford yesterday. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dalsoren.

Mrs. Ida Palmer, member of the Stoughton Rebekah lodge and a former resident of Stoughton, is reported to be failing at her home in Lodi. Her late husband was a soldier of the sixties.

Attends Janesville Funeral.

Theodore Rue was in Janesville yesterday attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Frank Dewey, who passed away at the Mercy hospital in that city. Mr. Dewey was 39 years old and leaves a wife and two children.

J. E. Ovren is back from a business trip to Minneapolis and Lamberton, Minn. He was accompanied on his return by his wife's father, Rev. Arne Johnson, former Norwegian Methodist pastor, now retired because of old age.

Fredersik Jenson, son of Mrs. F. M. Jenson, is recovering from an operation at the local hospital.

Visitors with Mrs. Sam Orvold, east side, yesterday were Mrs. Frank Dawe, daughter and son, of Edgerton.

Mrs. Rudy Halverson was a visitor in Madison yesterday with her sister, Miss Esther Fykerud, at the Bradley Institute.

Mrs. Rosanna England was given a surprise party Monday afternoon by a number of lady friends at her home on W. Washington st. It was the anniversary of her birthday.

Mrs. John Hofstad and cousin, Emil Echland were Madison visitors yesterday.

Rev. B. J. Larson, superintendent at the home for the aged, arrived yesterday from a trip into parts of Minnesota on behalf of the institution. He found that southwestern Minnesota farmers were lacking in money, that they had invested and failed to dispose of their crops. In other sections of that state financial conditions were not so serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Anfin Moen entertained a number of relatives on Monday evening in commemoration of their wedding anniversary. Mr. Moen owns some farms, but lives in town, where he located on Giles St. several years ago.

Mrs. P. I. Shellestad is spending a few days with her son, [illegible] Sheilestad and family in Oregon. The son conducts a grocery store in that place.

Abe L. Severson left yesterday on a business trip to Beloit. [illegible] J. J. Ball, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Hale at the [illegible] home on North Fourth St., left yesterday morning on her return to Bushnell, Ill.

S. O. Sveen was taken suddenly ill and rushed to the local hospital where he had an operation some time ago. Another operation was necessary.

Rolfe Hanson has been a visitor with his mother, Mrs. H. T. Hanson in Madison.

Miss Emely Norgaren and Miss Ruth Holtan spent yesterday with friends in the capitol city.

Mrs. Oscar Efduuns of Madison, daughter of Ed. Severson, formerly of Stoughton, is spending a couple of days in the city.

There will be a bazaar and social in Rev. G. G. Krostu's church, Pleasant Springs, on Thursday, Dec. 15, beginning at 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Page have been visitors with Floyd Patterson and family in Oregon.

The ladies' aid society of the First Congregational church was entertained at a coffee yesterday by Mrs. Roberts, wife of the superintendent of the city schools, who was assisted by Mrs. G. L. Whittingham and Mrs. Marshall Robson.

The First Universalist Guild met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Anderson, East Jefferson St.

Cyrus Cravens of Delavan is a visitor with his sister, Mrs. William Hamlet, at Stoughton. Mr. Cravens was injured in a railway accident and was instructed to consult a Madison specialist.

Miss Zella Tracy went to Janesville yesterday to be with her grandmother, who is over 80 years old and who suffered a stroke of apoplexy on Saturday.

Miss Selma Spersrude has been home from Madison for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Spersrude, South Fourth St.

C. E. Doolittle has been visiting at Brodhead, where he owns another jewelry store.

Factory Notes.

A. H. Elver justice of the Second ward and cashier at the office of the Stoughton Wagon Co., left yesterday on a trip into various parts of Texas for the company. W. G. Patterson of Aurora, Ill., has been transacting motor business at the plant. Wagner & Himbert of LaSalle, Ill., visited the plant yesterday.

Madison parties began work yesterday in Main St., for installation of traffic posts, that will be lighted from the nearest electric light pole, the wire being laid underground. These posts are to be used not only for traffic purposes, but also for advertising by the company given the right to place them.

Fire Department Called.

Rev. J. B. Larson's car afire in the street near the Roe Bros. garage called out the department yesterday afternoon. The blaze was extinguished by the garage force.

Dr. A. L. Olson was called to Deerfield this week in consultation with other doctors in a serious case.

Given Coin Shower.

Miss Lucinda Sproul was given a coin shower Monday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sproul, east of the city, the guests being young ladies and married people to the number of twenty. Miss Sproul was presented with a well filled purse of money. Miss Sproul was married at 9 this morning to Mr. Martin G. Onsrude, who operates his father's farm west of Janesville. Rev. M. H. Hegge performed the ceremony at the First Lutheran parsonage on South Page St. The couple was attended by Miss Murial Sproul, sister of the bride and by his cousin, Maurice Gilbertson of Evansville. They left on a wedding trip to Milwaukee and will go to housekeeping next week on the farm. The bride will be showered by former neighbors in Dunn on Saturday.

Student Life Surveyed by Questionaire

Commerce May Distribute Blanks; Will Print Analysis

A survey to determine the life and interests of typical freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior students at the University of Wisconsin is being conducted by the Commerce magazine by means of the distribution yesterday and today of several thousand questionaires. The results of the survey will be published in a feature article in the January number of the magazine.

Ask Pointed Questions

How late do you study at night? Do you ever feel blue? A job in prospect? Do you aim to be famous? Believe co-education is a good thing? Could you speak before a large audience? Do you favor a Yale-Wisconsin game? What magazines do you read? How many students at the university do you know? These are some of the questions asked in the questionaires. Two thousand of the most complete sets of questions will be used in constructing the average student type. More than 1,400 answers are expected tomorrow.

"The student body is responding well to our survey," said Humphrey E. Desmond '22, editor of the Commerce magazine. "Few attempts at humor in answering the questions are being made."

Only one student in 50 reads the Atlantic monthly, one in six the Cosmopolitan, one in four the American, but all students read the Saturday Evening Post, according to the results of the undertaking so far.

Good Analysis Expected

An accurate analysis of student types will be obtained, in the opinion of Desmond who is conducting the survey with Reginald Garstang '22, also of the Commerce magazine staff. A reprint of 1,500 copies of the article to appear in the magazine will be ordered.

Those who have not been approached may get blanks from Desmond or at the registrar's office. Two questions have been added to the list: How soon do you expect to get married? and How much money should a man have to marry?

Journalists To Go To Meet At Ames

Charles P. MacInnis '22, and Hickman Powell '23, leave today for Ames, Iowa, where they will represent Wisconsin at the seventh annual convention of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary and professional journalistic fraternity. The convention will be held on December 8, 9, and 10. Delegates will be entertained by the fraternities of Iowa State college.

The convention will consist of business sessions, a talk by Clarence W. Barron, who controls the Wall Street Journal, and a reunion of alumni members. Copies of campus publications from all the schools represented will appear on exhibit during the sessions.

Petitions for the granting of chapters of Sigma Delta Chi to three schools will be considered at the meetings. The three schools are the Medill school at Northwestern university, the University of Washington, and the University of North Dakota.

Lawrence W. Murphy '21, of Wisconsin, now heads the journalism department at North Dakota.

Hicks Speaks Today On Industry Tasks

C. J. Hicks, assistant to the president of the Standard Oil company, will speak this afternoon at [illegible] in 165 Bascom hall under the auspices of the Economics department. He will discuss the problem of "Co-operation in Industry."

Mr. Hicks is primarily noted for the great work he has accomplished in promoting industrial representation plans with the International Harvester company, the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and the Standard Oil company.

In the light of modern labor relations the Economics department feels that Mr. Hicks' talk will interest every student.

Philomathia Again Debates Question of Honor System

The honor system will again be the subject of discussion at Wisconsin when Philomathia debates the question at her regular meeting next Friday evening.

The question is stated as follows: "Resolved, that the University of Wisconsin Conduct all Final Examinations under the Honor System." The affirmative will be upheld by [illegible] Numer '24 (closer), Henry [illegible] '23, and Henry Albert '25. The negative side of the question will be discussed by Pat Erickson [illegible] (closer), Albert Toll '25, John [illegible]man '25.

There will also be an initiation speech by L. Shapiro '24, and a talk by Charles Rawson '23. Following the program there will be election of officers.

Dance at Kappa House

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority will entertain with an informal house dance on Friday evening. Mrs. J. C. Evans, Miss [illegible] Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moser will chaperon.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1921

The Message

THERE was much in the message of President Harding, read yesterday at the opening of Congress, that carried satisfaction to the liberal elements of the country.

The declaration in favor of the encouragement of the principle of the cooperative movement in the distribution of farm products; the recommendation for an amendment to the constitution that would do away with tax exempt bonds; a readjustment of freight rates that will do away with the big advantage now enjoyed by the big cities; the extension of aid to the starving in Russia,—these are all recommendations which came as a surprise to the forward looking people of the country who hold Harding as a leader of the ultra-reactionary group.

Does Harding mean what he says or are these progressive recommendations in his message simply a gesture with which to inaugurate the approach to the coming congressional elections?

Over against these liberal recommendations were those in which the president pays homage to the crowd that made him.

The president is still solicitous of the group that is seeking to hold the swag made during the war and who are trying to load the cost of the war on the masses. The president indicated that the 50 per cent surtax agreed upon in the last session is still too high and that action will be taken at this session in an endeavor to further reduce the surtax.

The reference to the setting up of new machinery in the settlement of labor disputes is taken to mean that President Harding is in favor of the application of the Kansas plan to the nation. Labor leaders at Washington are especially displeased with this part of the message and indications are that any attempt on the part of the administration to inaugurate a plan for the settlement of industrial differences through compulsory arbitration and federal coercion will be met with bitter opposition.

The president poured sweet music into the ears of the industrial barons of the country who want a tariff law that will enable them to set prices in this country without any competition. The big contributors to the republican campaign chests in the last campaign will expect to cash in through the passage of a satisfactory tariff bill at this session.

The president took occasion to administer an indirect rebuke to the agricultural bloc in the senate and reiterated his old views on "government by class." The republicans, evidently, fear that the agricultural bloc will continue its successful fight against the privileged class at this session. The president, having been placed in the presidency by the privileged class, is opposed to the success and work of any other "class."

The message indicates that there will be a bitter struggle at this session. Organized wealth failed to get what it wanted in the last session of Congress. Wealth always demands the payment of a promissory note. Harding and the republican party are indebted to the privileged interests of the country,—and they are going to try hard to pay the debt.

Whittlesey's Death

THE suicide of Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of the famous "lost battalion," should serve as a "shocking reminder of how the poison of war leaves its trace in men's souls long after the fighting is over," according to John Thomas Taylor, chairman of the legislative committee of the American Legion at Washington.

Taylor, who has been in close touch with the situation surrounding sick and wounded service men since the armistice, declares that thousands of men are in the same mental condition as was Col. Whittlesey, a condition credited with having caused his suicide. Whittlesey's end, Mr. Taylor says, is a summons to the nation "to save its broken defenders before it is too late."

"Nearly 50,000 mildly insane veterans have passed through our hospitals since the armistice," the Legion official declares in a statement. "Despite our efforts, the Government has not yet built one good hospital for the care of these men nor established one good rehabilitation center for their cure. If a highly educated, well provided for veteran like Whittlesey surrenders, what may we not fear for the thousands of discouraged, broken-minded and often destitute men kicked around from pillar to post by their Government?"

More than one-third of the 30,000 disabled veterans now receiving treatment are mentally disabled, according to Mr. Taylor. Of these 10,000, almost 7,500 are scattered through the country in asylums for the criminal and pauper insane.

Slowly Waking Up

In The Boston Herald appears the following significant editorial:

WHY THIS SEVERITY?

How many readers, as they see the small announcement in the corner of the newspapers that a girl propagandist is to be deported realize what this means?

Ponzi, who had taken millions of dollars from the trusting poor, received five years in prison for his calculated villainy. This girl, Molly Steimer, received in 1918, at the age of 18 a sentence in a federal court for 15 years for distributing circulars denouncing the United States government for sending troops to Russia to oppose the soviet government.

But a Russian girl, of school age, presumably knowing little of our laws or of the dangerous consequences of defying the prevailing hysteria, dared to distribute a protest against the government, written by someone else—a wild and foolish circular, no doubt. Today, after a term in prison, she is to be deported to the land of starvation as an act of grace.

Can we afford to let her accusing voice leave our shores without a word of sympathy or help or pardon? Do we care and have we any realization of what a travesty on justice she may tell to millions who had looked to our free land as the world's hope?

We count this an evidence of returning sanity in America. We cannot agree that Molly Steimer's circular protesting against making war upon Russia without the sanction of congress, was "a wild and foolish circular, no doubt," except from the standpoint of individual personal safety. Nobody thought that the protest of the mothers of boys in Siberia, which came a little later, was "wild and foolish." Those who have read Fighting Without a War, by Ralph Albertson, Y. M. C. A. officer with the American troops in northern Russia, do not believe that the protests of the soldiers were "wild and foolish." But this point is unimportant; it is only a last lingering survival of war madness. The important thing is that here is evidence that all sense of justice and decency is not yet lost in America.—Unity.

Who's Who in the Day's News

WILLIAM S. CARTER

PRESIDENT W. S. CARTER of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen is another of the big leaders now working over railway conditions who went from college to the firebox. He was born in Austin, Tex., August 11, 1859, and put in two years in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas before taking a job as fireman.

He worked on various roads in Texas, Colorado and Mexico from 1879 to 1894, when he became editor and manager of the official organ of the brotherhood. During the war he was director of the division of labor of the United States railroad administration.

During the last few days Mr. Carter has been at Chicago in conference with Grand Chief Stone of the Engineers, and the two have called in a number of other officials of the two brotherhoods. The strike which was called off among the railway men is the subject of the new discussions.

Jones was up for disorderly conduct at a dance due—er—to a cause. As he went away, the dean put in a little paternal touch.

"It's too much wine, women and song, Jones," he said: "you will have to reform."

"Yes, sir," replied Jones thoughtfully.

The dean was somewhat stunned to read in the Prince next morning: Jones Resigns from Chapel Choir.

Timely Views Not In The News

PROSPERITY'S RETURN WAITS ON REDUCTIONS IN FREIGHT RATES, WAGES, TAXES AND COST OF FUEL, SAYS FINANCIER

BUSINESS quite definitely has turned the corner, but prosperity waits on the restoration of the buying power of America's greatest commercial asset—the farmer."

So said Frank A. Seiberling, founder of Goodyear and now president of the new $10,000,000 Seiberling Rubber Company, in a recent interview at Akron, Ohio.

F. A. SEIBERLING

"The farmer has been readjusted to the bottom. When other values balance the present position of the farmer, then America will be on the eve of the greatest wave of sound and stable prosperity this or any other country has ever known," Mr. Seiberling said.

"This country probably never will see another year when we shall sell as few as a million automobiles. When we reach the point of saturation, as it is called, renewals will always exceed a million cars a year."

Expedients temporarily to relieve the unemployment situation, if they add to the taxpayer's burden, Mr. Seiberling asserts, will retard, rather than accelerate, a revival of business.

"Liquidate down to the farmer's level, so that he may market his products profitably and be in a position to buy what he needs as cheaply as he sells," is Mr. Seiberling's advice to business.

"America must not wait for stabilization of European currency and build on any early substantial improvement in our export trade. We must apply ourselves to working out our own situation until everybody is at work at a properly balanced rate of wages and all living costs and commodity prices adjusted accordingly.

"Business cannot be stabilized unless all are willing to co-operate in the assumption of losses. The big trouble is that we want the other man to liquidate while we hold our own. Any man who is unwilling to assume his share of the loss is an enemy to readjustment."

Concerns unwilling to liquidate and take their full share of the essential loss, Mr. Seiberling said, are not deceiving anyone but themselves and are really standing in their own light.

"The buying public never was so discriminating as today," he added. "We have learned some lessons as a nation from the business depression of the last year. We have learned the value of money and the true values of commodities we need."

"Railroad freight rates, wages, taxes and the cost of fuel all must come down and come down immediately to start the farmer buying again. And it must be borne in mind all the time that there is no hope for any improvement in business until the buying starts with the farmer."

Mr. Seiberling indicated lower freight rates as the starting point—"and we cannot get lower freight rates until all railroad labor has been brought into balance with other classes of labor that, like the farmer, have been adjusted to the bottom," he added. "Some classes of railroad labor have been brought into the balance with the times, but that is not enough. The readjustment must be applied to all railroad labor."

From Foreign Lands

A NEW RULING

MOSCOW—The Council of People Commissars has published a decree annulling the former practice of paying all unemployed or disabled workers both in money and food.

By the new decree, only those workers in industries for three years past will receive an allowance which, for the first-class, will be full minimum pay and, for the second-class, one-half of the minimum pay.

The government is not making any unemployment allowance for the thousands of government employes now being discharged.

VILLA IN CONFERENCE

MEXICO CITY — Francisco Villa, one time bandit, has taken the leadership of an Agrarian league in the Laguna cotton district in the state of Durango where wide unemployment has given rise to some disturbances, according to advices received here.

Villa called a conference of all landowners and presided at a meeting in which he urged the capitalists of the state to co-operate in an effort to relieve the unrest, promising his personal support of any measure looking to that end.

COST OF STEEL TRAPS

[To the Editor]—Steel traps are costing us the conscience and finer feelings of our boys, and young men. While we are represented at a peace parley at Washington, we are, by the use and abuse of steel traps, educating our boys for warriors. Can we afford to continue this awful torture of the lower animals? Often men attend church, while they have animals in their traps in freezing weather writhing with pain. Said a hunter to me: "Why is it that we like to hit and cripple game, though we do not kill it? "Because," I replied, "We value our marksmanship above our humanity." I wish that a day might be set apart in which every minister would preach a sermon on steel traps and their abuses, and I would suggest as a text: "Be ye merciful to all things."—J. H. The New Assistant At Pine Clearing School

CHAPTER III

Mrs. Martin was early at the schoolhouse the next morning, yet not so early but that she discovered that the new assistant had been there before her. This was shown in some rearrangement of the school seats and benches. It was nearly the school hour when he appeared, to her surprise, marshaling a file of some of the smaller children whom he had evidently picked up en route, and who were, to her greater surprise, apparently on the best of terms with him. "Thought I'd better rake 'em in, introduce myself to 'em, and get 'em to know me before school begins. Excuse me," he went on hastily, "but I've a lot more coming up, and I'd better make myself square with them outside." But Mrs. Martin had apparently developed a certain degree of stiffness since their evening's interview.

'It seems to me quite as important, Mr. Twing," she said dryly, "that you should first learn some of your own duties, which I came here early to teach you."

"Not at all," he said cheerfully. "Today I take my seat, as I've arranged it, you see, over there with them, and watch 'em go through the motions. One rehearsal's enough for me." And before she could reply he was out of the schoolhouse again, hailing the newcomers. This was done with apparently such delight to the children, and with some evidently imported expression into his smooth masklike face, that Mrs. Martin had to content herself with watching him with equal curiosity. She was turning away with a sudden sense of forgotten dignity, when a shout of joyous, childish laughter attracted her attention to the window. The new assistant, with half a dozen small children on his square shoulders, walking with bent back and every simulation of advanced senility, was evidently personating, with the assistance of astonishingly distorted features, the ogre of a Christmas pantomine. And when school began, although he marshaled them triumphantly to the very door,—with what contortion of face or simulation of character after he had entered the school room and taken his seat every vestige of his previous facial aberration was gone, and only his usual stolidity remained.

Yet she was nervously conscious, meanwhile, of a more ill-omened occurrence. This was non-arrival of several of her oldest pupils, notably, the refractory and incorrigible Pike County contingent to whom Sperry had alluded. For the past few days they had hovered on the verge of active insubordination. It was, therefore, with some inward trepidations, not entirely relieved by Twing's presence, that she saw the three Mackinnons and the two Hardees slouch into the school a full hour after the lessons had begun. They did not even excuse themselves and Mrs. Martin was obliged to demand an explanation. The culprit addressed—a dull, heavy-looking youth of nineteen—hesitated with an air of mingled doggedness and sheepishness, and then, without replying nudged his companion. It was evidently a preconcerted signal of rebellion, for the boy nudged stopped, and began determinedly:—

'Wot's our excuse for coming an hour late? Well, we ain't got none. We don't call it an hour late—we don't. We call it the right time. We call it the right time for our lessons, for we don't allow to come here to sing hymns with babbies. We dont' want any more Daniels in the Lions' Den played off on us. We reckon to do our sums, and our figgerin', and our readin' and writin' and the American Constitution. That's our right and what our fathers pay schooltaxes for, and we want 'em."

Mrs. Martin sat, quite white and self-contained, with her eyes fixed on the frayed rim of the rebel's straw hat which he still kept on his head. Then she said quietly:—

"Take off your hat, sir."

The boy did not move.

"He can't," said a voice cheerfully.

It was the new assistant. The whole school faced rapidly toward him. The rebel leader and his followers, who had not noticed him before, stared at the interrupter, who did not, however seem to exhibit any of the authority of office, but rather the comment and criticism of one of themselves. "Wot you mean?" asked the boy indignantly.

"I mean you can't take off your hat because you've got some things stowed away in it you don't want seen," said Twing, with an immovable face.

"Wot things?" exclaimed the boy angrily. Then suddenly recollecting himself, he added, "Go along! You cant' fool me! Think you'll make me take off my hat—don't you?"

"Well," said Twing, advancing to the side of the rebel, "look here then!" With a dexterous movement and a slight struggle from the boy, he lifted the hat. A half dozen apples, a bird's nest, two birds' eggs, and a fluttering half-fledged bird fell from it. A blank look of hopeless bewilderment settled upon the boy's face, and the gravity of the situation disappeared forever in the irrepressible burst of laughter, in which even his brother rebels joined. The smallest child who had been half-frightened, half-fascinated by the bold, bad heroic attitude of the mutineer, was quick to see the ridiculousness of that figure crowned with cheap schoolboy plunder. Even Mrs. Martin felt that nothing she could say at that moment could lift the rebellion into seriousness again. But Twing was evidently not satisfied.

"Beg Mrs. Martin's pardon, and say you were foolin' with the boys," he said in a low voice.

The discomfited rebel hesitated.

"Say it, or I'll show what you've got in your pockets!" said Twing in a terribly significant aside.

The boy mumbled an apology to Mrs Martin, scrambled in a blank hopeless way to his seat, and the brief rebellion ignominiously ended. But two things struck Mrs. Martin as peculiar. She overheard the culprit say, with bated breath and evident sincerity, to his comrades, "Hadn't nothing in my hat, anyway!" All this, however, did not blind her to the serious intent of the rebellion, or of Twing's unaccountable assumption of her prerogative. While he was still romping with the children at recess she called him in.

"I must remind you," she said, with a slight nervous asperity, "that this outrageous conduct of Tom Hardee was evidently deliberated and prepared by others, and cannot end in this way."

He looked at her with a face so exasperatingly expressionless that she could have slapped it as it had belonged to one of the older scholars, and said—"But it has ended. It's dead frost."

"I don't know what you mean; and I must remind you also that in this school we neither teach nor learn slang."

"Excuse me—won't you? But, look here, Mrs. Martin, I found out early this morning, when I was squaring myself with the other children, that there was this row hangin' on—in fact, that there was a sort of idea that Pike County wasn't having a fair show—excuse me—in the running of the school, and that Peaseley and Barstow were a little too much on in every scene. In fact, you see, it was just what Tom said."

"This is insufferable," said Mrs. Martin, her eyes growing darker as her cheeks grew red. "They shall go home to their parents, and tell them from me"—

"That they're all mistaken—excuse me—but that's just what they're goin' to do. I tell you, Mrs. Martin, their game's busted—I beg pardon—but it's all over. You'll have no more trouble with them."

"And you think that just because you found Tom had something in his hat, and exposed him?" said Mrs. Martin scornfully.

"Tom hadn't anything in his hat," said Twing, wiping his mouth slowly.

"Nothing?" repeated Mrs. Martin.

"No."

"But I saw you take the things out."

"That was only a trick! He had nothing except what I had up my sleeve, and forced on him. He knew it, and that frightened him, and made hem look like a fool, and so bursted up his conspiracy. There's nothin' boys are more afraid of than ridicule, or the man or boy that makes 'em ridiculous."

"I won't ask you if you call this fair to the boy, Mr. Twing?" said Mrs. Martin hotly, 'but is this your idea of discipline?"

"I call it fair, because Tom knew it was some kind of a trick, and wasn't deceived. I call it discipline if it made him do what was right afterwards, and makes him afraid or unwilling to do anything to offend me or you again. And," he added, with awkward earnestness, "if you'll just leave all this to me, and only consider me here to take this sort of work—which ain't a lady's—off your hands, we'll just strike our own line between the Peaseley's and Pike county —and run this school in spite of both."

A little mollified, a good deal puzzled and perhaps more influenced by the man's manner than she had imagined, Mrs. Martin said nothing, but let the day pass without dismissing the offenders.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Martin was somewhat formally early at the schoolhouse the next morning. "Perhaps," she said, with an odd mixture of dignity and timidity, "we'd better, before school commences, go over the lessons for the day."

"I have," he said quickly. "I told you one rehearsal was enough for me."

"You mean you have looked over them?"

"Got 'em by heart. Letter perfect. Want to hear me? Listen."

She did. He had actually committed to memory, and without a lapse, the entire text of rules, questions, answers, and examples of the lessons for the day.

'Keep Hands Off or Starve,' Business Threat to Farmers

(From Labor)

ORGANIZED business, apparently satisfied for the time being with the success of its assaults against the workers, is now planning a campaign against the farmers. The first point of attack is the "agricultural bloc" in Congress. This is made plain in an announcement by the Committee of American Businessmen, of which J. Pierpont Morgan, international banker, is president.

The committee, it reports, has received a large number of letters from business men all over the country protesting against the tax and tariff programs of Congress. The general tenor of the letters is that the domination of Congress by the so-called "farmer group" means that business must give up any hope of relief from war taxes.

Big business is determined to keep the profits secured during the war and since, and is not satisfied with the generous treatment already received from Congress. It wants the surtaxes on large incomes repealed along with excess profit taxes, and the entire burden of government transferred to the people.

A tax on food, clothing and shelter, which the people will pay according to their needs and not according to their ability, is advocated by the Morgan organization as the proper substitute for taxes against profiteers.

"There is a widespread sentiment among business men," says a statement from Morgan's committee, "that the farmers have forced themselves into an organization whose purpose is to drive against business in general, with especial attention to large enterprise. Letters received by this committee indicate that business is prepared to organize against the farmers."

A typical letter, written by H. M. Jewett, president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., of Detroit, is quoted as expressing the general sentiment of business men.

"The farmers," declares Jewett, "are standing in their own light, because without success in manufacturing the farmers will starve."

If this threat does not stay the hand of farmers, the Morgan committee will find other ways of dealing with them.

It is mildly intimated that many of the farmer's difficulties can be traced to his opposition to big business, and that he may expect them to increase unless he decides to keep hands off "a taxing program" demanded by wealth and supported by the Old Guard in Congress.

Y. W. C. A. Campaign Reaches $1,425 Mark

About $1,425 have been subscribed in the Y. W. C. A. campaign drive for $2,500, leaving $1,000 still to be raised. An effort is being made to reach every girl in the university. Those who are not at home when solicited are asked to call at the Y. W. C. A. office in Lathrop and volunteer their subscriptions.

On the Side

THE CHAMP MONTH

Oh, how I love December,
  The best month of the twelve.
Into my treasure casket
  I never have to delve.
I cannot spend a nickel,
  My bank account looks brave.
I sit around in December,
  And save and save and save.
The outgo is so trifling.
  And dough grows on the trees,
And all I have to care for
  Are litle dabs like these:

Income tax.
Ninety-nine Christmas presents.
Insurance premiums.
Interest on mortgage.
Instalment on furniture.
Tax on real estate.
Stray bills of old year.
Safety box rental.
Instalment on player-piano.
Automobile tax for coming year.
Rent for January.
Club dues.

If you don't believe you are living in a dry country, read some of the "comic" weeklies.

Princess Bibesco, daughter of Margot Asquith, has shocked Washington diplomatic circles with a new sex novel. Probably it shocked diplomatic circles because it speaks in plain English without any whispering behind the hand.

* * *

Whenever we read of one of these "quiet home weddings," we wonder if it is customary to pull off a boiler explosion, a sham battle or an earthquake at the other ones.

* * *

We notice a glaring headline in a magazine advertisement:

"Do You Want More Money?"

No. That is one thing we are glad to say we do not want. There are many other things, of course, that we would like, but if we had any more money we wouldn't know what to do with it. Money is a great burden, so all the moneyed men tell us. They hate it. It is the bane of their lives. "Money is not everything," they say. They should know and we are willing to take their word for it. Money means nothing whatever to us and it never has.

The Theaters

AT THE MAJESTIC.

J. Rufus Wallingford and G. Horace Daw, characters known to all readers of fiction, appeared on the screen before the audience at the Majestic Theatre, when "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," a Paramount picture and a Cosmopolitan production, was presented with excellent results. "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" and "Blackie Daw arrive in the town of Battlesburg, where "Blackie" Daw, Wallingford's advance agent, discovers there is plenty of money awaiting investment. It is the ambition of the two confidence men to remove that money. How their schemes turn out honest in spite of themselves, and the results of their careful plannings offer many surprises to the audience. There are many laughs.

AT THE STRAND.

"Ince's latest production "A Man's Home" will be shown at the Strand for four days, starting today. Basing the story on the established truth that most of the troubles of the day are the result of internal troubles in the home and that there is hardly a household that has not a skeleton of some sort lurking about, "A Man's Home" goes to show what happens to a rich man who becomes so immersed in business that he allows his wife to drift away from him. There will also be shown a 'Snub" Pollard comedy and a Prizma study in natural color.

AT THE GRAND

It is an interesting co-incidence that the most conscientious artist who ever acted on the stage, and the most conscientious actor on the screen, have both appeared in "A Midnight Bell," the Charles Ray picture showing at the Grand. Maude Adams, in her early professional career, was working for Daniel Frohman for $35 a week when "A Midnight Bell" was produced and Mr. Frohman released her so she could appear in the Hoyt play with her mother. This was about 30 years ago. Now Charles Ray is staring in a screen version of the famous old Hoyt play. Both Miss Adams and Mr. Ray think that the stage and screen should be treated as works of art and both of them devote their best thoughts to their art.

AT THE PALACE

"In Search of a Sinner" starring Constance Talmadge, will begin a two day's engagement at the Palace Theatre, today. Adapted by John Emerson and Anita Loos the picture gives Miss Talmadge more opportunities for displaying her personality than any of her previous productions.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Singing, dancing, comedy, musical numbers, juggling and acrobatic stunts make up the vaudeville offering for the first three days of this week. Joe Thomas' Sax-o-tette, featuring five men who play both the cornet and saxophone and Miss Jeanne Mai, singer and dancer, are the headliners in a very nifty musical offering. Helen Higgins and Betty Braun, with Horace Bentley at the piano offer a very pretty routine of dancing numbers, featuring beautiful costumes and their own stage settings. George Morton, the Black Dot, has a line of stories, some songs, a few fancy steps and numbers on the ukelele. One of the best costing acts seen here in a long time is the offering of the Four Lamys, while Raines and Avery offer a series of patter and musical numbers and Ethel and Ward Shattuck open the show with juggling features. There will be three performances today, matinee at 3 p. m.
